STATE LODGE HEADS AT REBEKAH SESSION

Complete Plans for Big Celebration in Glendale Saturday, April 28

STATE and district officers were honored guests last night at the district meeting of the Rebekah lodge in the I. O. O. F. hall, where members of the Carnation Rebekah lodge were hostesses.

Grand Lecturer Longley of Los Angeles, state officer; Mary N. Pierce, president of the Rebekah assembly of California; Mrs. Lydia Hadley of Los Angeles, district deputy president; Mrs. Genevieve Smith of Highland park, past district deputy president, were those honored by the 250 lodge members from Glendale, Los Angeles and Santa Monica lodges.

Complete Plans

Each lodge represented took part in the instruction and degree work.

One of the features of the meeting was the completion of plans for the southern California celebration Saturday, April 28, in Glendale, of the 104th anniversary of the founding of the Odd Fellows' lodge in the United States.

Mrs. Loretta Schwitters, noble grand of the Glendale lodge, is heading the celebration committee and she announced the program for that event.

There will be a parade through Glendale's business district at 11 o'clock in the morning and the lodge people will then journey to the Glendale Verdugo park for lunch and an afternoon program of sports and dance in the evening.

Mrs. Schwitters is assisted by Charles Conner as vice chairman; Miss May Reynolds, recording secretary; Hugh Harrison, treasurer; Henry Hollenbeck, chairman of entertainment; Carl Schwitters, chairman of concessions; R. Rasmussen, chairman of executive committee.

Prelate's Execution Stirs Poles to Rage

WARSAW, April 4.—The Polish cabinet today discussed what steps should be taken regarding the execution of Rev. Father Butkiewicz, Polish prelate of the Catholic church, who was put to death Saturday by a firing squad at Moscow. Diplomatic relations with Russia may be severed.

Indignation is running high in Poland and anti-Russian demonstrations are likely to take place. The secrecy maintained about the execution has killed the hopes of Polish churchmen that the body can be removed en route to this country for burial.

Polish officials charge that the soviet offered to exchange imprisoned prelates for Bolshevist prisoners held in Poland, but that the Polish government refused.

Pickford Joins Wife On Chicago Honeymoon

CHICAGO, April 4.—Marilyn Miller and Jack Pickford renewed their honeymoon here today.

The brother of "America's sweetheart" arrived in Chicago on a ten days' leave of absence from the Hollywood, Cal., studios to visit his wife, who is starring in a musical play here.

Pickford took occasion to refute rumors that he and Miss Miller were about to be divorced. "It's terrible to be separated like this," he said. "And then a lot of old folks get busy and decide we're getting divorced."

Pickford will return to California Monday to begin work on a new picture.

Millionaire Admitted Murder, Is Testimony

ALBANY, N. Y. April 4.—Walter S. Ward, youthful millionaire baker of New Rochelle, admitted to Coroner F. Fitzgerald of West Chester county that he killed Clarence Peters, a former sailor. Fitzgerald made this assertion at today's hearing, which the state is making into the Ward-Peters murder mystery.

"Ward actually admitted to you that he shot Peters, didn't he?" Fitzgerald was asked by Attorney General Sherman.

"He did," said the coroner.

ANNOUNCE POLICY

WASHINGTON, April 4—Members of congress who attempt to exert political pressure to secure action on compensation claims of ex-soldiers will be unwelcome hereafter at the United States veterans' bureau, unless the cases are of an emergency character, according to a new policy announced today by Brigadier General Frank T. Hines, the new director.

POETS TO EAT! AND READ MESSAGES OF SPRING, BUDS, BIRDS

Annual Clash of Local Word Artists to Take Place At Sunset Club

Ain't it queer
When spring's here
How poets rare
Will tear their hair?

Spring is here!

Sure it is. The birds and bees, the flowers and weeds, the automobiles and the boosters one and all know it.

But!

Is this any reason why the composition of spring poetry should be encouraged and abetted by law-abiding, peace-loving citizens?

The Glendale Exchange club will gather at the Sunset Canyon Country club tomorrow night for its second—and maybe last—annual "spring poets' dinner."

Capt. D. Ripley Jackson, who won the silver loving cup at last year's open sweepstakes for local poets, reports that this is one time when rhymers and meter-fixers can be sure of a square meal.

Capt. W. B. Kelly who donated the prize last year is doing the same this season. He guarantees that it won't leak, but says that he doubts whether it will hold all the tears to be shed for the death of King Winter.

By the way, where has Jack Frost been this year and how long has King Winter been dead in these parts?

LOCK DOORS ON ANXIOUS SENATORS

Hold Lawmakers From First Ball Game---Almost---to Vote on Fish Bill

Special to The Evening News

SACRAMENTO, April 4.—The senators almost missed the Senators' opening ball game here yesterday afternoon while sergeants-at-arms were searching for Senator Rush under a call of the house. Doors were locked and as the hour of 2 o'clock passed it seemed as though Senator J. M. Inman of Sacramento was doing the unpatriotic thing in keeping them there to vote on his anti-alien fishing law.

Ruination of southern California's sea food industry was claimed by opponents to the measure who voted it down by twenty-five to thirteen, but Assemblyman Charles B. Dawson has a similar measure to restrict California's waters to American citizens which he hopes will win.

Miss Eleanor Miller of Pasadena succeeded in getting her measure to place Whittier school for boys under the department of education passed by the assembly, but Henry Carter of San Pedro moved for reconsideration. So it is about every important measure, few laws having as yet gotten to the governor.

May Run Into Jam

From all appearances it is predicted a legislative jam will occur by the end of April and the session may continue to May 10. A strenuous program of day and night sessions is now proposed to keep the machinery working on the grist of bills. Committees already are beginning to summarily flatten out all freak proposals and the stretcher bearers are busy cleaning up measures tabled in the twinkling of an eye.

Criminal syndicalism last night had a field day in the assembly judiciary during a public hearing on Hornblower's bill to repeal the act, but little hope of such action is held in view of the good work already accomplished in weeding the I. W. W. from this state.

In connection with the reapportionment bill consideration by the assembly the San Francisco Call claims the south has gained enough votes to carry it through the assembly.

Submits Evidence to Aid Sugar Price Quiz

WASHINGTON, April 4.—District Attorney Hayward of New York today laid before Acting Attorney General Seymour considerable information concerning the part played by New York speculators in the rise of sugar prices.

Hayward's disclosures, it was said, will enable the department of justice to conclude speedily the governmental probe of the sugar price situation.

Destroyer Injured In Bosphorus Crash

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 4.—The American destroyer Fox has been severely damaged in a collision with the British battleship Ceres in the Bosphorus, according to a dispatch to the navy department today from Constantinople. No loss of life was reported.

BOOMS FOR PRESIDENT BURST IN SILENCE

Harding Candidacy Causes Republican Party Leaders To Hide Ambition

By WM. K. HUTCHINSON
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, April 4.—The recent announcement that President Harding would be a candidate for a second term in the White House forestalled the launching of a dozen individual presidential booms within the Republican party, it was learned today.

Nearly all these potential Republican standard bearers since have placed party loyalty above personal ambition by pledging support to Mr. Harding, but it can be stated authoritatively that the Miami announcement of Attorney General Daugherty brought to a sudden halt considerable agitation in a number of quarters which would have resulted in the formal launching of presidential booms before the end of spring. These "booms," for the most part, have now been tossed on the political shelf, but a few are subject to recall at any time.

Booms Are Busted

Among the nationally known Republicans whose names were urged by friends as possible successors to Mr. Harding, prior to the Miami announcement, were Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas, Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, Brigadier General Charles G. Dawes of Chicago, former Senator William Kenyon of Iowa, Secretary of Commerce Hoover, Senator Hiram Johnson of California, Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin, former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, Senator Medill McCormick of Illinois, Major General Leonard Wood, now in the Philippines, and Senator James E. Watson of Indiana.

Of this number, political observers declare the General Wood boom nad progressed the farthest. It is understood the Daugherty announcement forestalled all launching of the Wood boom on his arrival in this country.

Ready At All Times

The La Follette boom is ready at all times as the senior senator from Wisconsin will control his state delegation to the Republican convention.

The potential candidacy of General Dawes, of "Hell and Maria" fame, and of Secretary Herbert Hoover were to vie for administration support if Mr. Harding had decided not to run.

With the president a candidate again, the McCormick, Watson, Wood and Lowden booms also died in infancy for they will support Mr. Harding as earnestly as will Hoover and Dawes. Borah, who is without a national organization at present, has never bolted the party and can be expected to wait for 1928 for his "big chance at the presidency."

Johnson May Change

Senator Capper, with strength among the farmers and frequently urged by farm organizations to make the race, probably will also remain in the fold without opposing Mr. Harding. The same can be said for Judge Kenyon.

Senator Hiram Johnson is the "question mark" of the list. Prior to sailing for Europe, Johnson emphatically stated he would not be in the race if President Harding ran again. His activities abroad and the Harding proposal for American entry to the international court, however, may cause him to change his mind before the Republican convention.

'Ape Man' Hides as Posse Seek His Lair

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa, April 4.—The man who has been attacking girls in the vicinity of the Council Bluffs high school, termed by the police as the "ape man," was inactive last night while a posse searched for him. He has attacked nineteen girls during the past eight days.

In each instance he crawled on his hands and knees from behind some obstruction and would clutch and claw at his victim's ankles, tearing their silk stockings and bruising their flesh.

The man has the appearance of a gorilla, his victims say. His hair is shaggy and long. His eyes are small and his facial features are monkey-like.

Carnarvon Recovers From Insect Poison

CAIRO, Egypt, April 4.—Lord Carnarvon, discoverer of the tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen in the Valley of the Kings, who is suffering from poison contracted through an insect's bite, was improved slightly today.

He still is in grave condition, although he rallied somewhat during the night. The doctors said they could not tell yet whether he would recover. The infection has spread throughout his body.

Mrs. Charles H. Toll Chosen Head Los Angeles District Federation Of Club Women

MRS. CHARLES H. TOLL, of Glendale, elected president, without opposition, of the Los Angeles District Federation of Women's Clubs at the convention now being held at San Luis Obispo and attended by a delegation of Glendale Tuesday Afternoon Club members.

Glendale Woman, Prominent In Various Organizations For Betterment, Is Unanimously Elected President

HONORS were showered today upon the city of Glendale and the Tuesday Afternoon Club by the unanimous election at the twenty-second annual convention of the Los Angeles District Federation of Women's Clubs at San Luis Obispo, of Mrs. Charles H. Toll of 1635 Kenneth Road as president for the coming federation year.

It was at the meeting January 23 that the Tuesday Afternoon club took formal action endorsing Mrs. Toll as a candidate for the Federation presidency, and the announcement was received most heartily by club women in all parts of the district. With her formal acceptance to be a candidate, Mrs. Toll's election was unanimously conceded, for all other applicants withdrew in her favor.

Prominent in Work.

In addition to being a member of the Tuesday Afternoon club, Mrs. Toll enjoys the honor of having been organizer of the Glendale Mutual Benefit Reading circle; at one time president of the Glendale Parent-Teacher association federation; also a former member of the Glendale school board; and at one time president of the Los Angeles Ebell club. She is at present a vice-president of the Glendale Community Service, and a state trustee of the State School for Girls at Ventura.

The Toll family came to Glendale in 1911 from Los Angeles, and Mrs. Toll, who was prominent in civic, religious, club and social life in that city, took up similar activities in Glendale, and as the city has grown so has the scope of her influence increased.

In P.-T. A. Circles

She took particular interest in the work of the Parent-Teacher association, and when Dr. Jessie A. Russell was president of the P.-T. A. federation, in 1913, Mrs. Toll served as vice-president, and was elected to the presidency the following year.

It was in March, 1916, while serving as chairman of education of the federation that Mrs. Toll was inspired to write to the Bureau of Education in Washington, D. C., for a list of study books for parents, and this inspiration resulted in her organizing the Mutual Benefit Reading Circle, which is today receiving recognition in all parts of the United States and standing as a model for like organizations.

When first organized the Reading Circle met for four years at the Toll home, Mrs. Toll serving as chairman and director of the meetings. Upon her resignation Mrs. A. A. Barton was chosen to carry on the work, and the place of meeting was changed to the Public Library. Here the Circle meets weekly and upon the occasion recently of the seventh anniversary of its founding, Mrs. Toll was honored guest.

To Leave for East

Mrs. Toll was president of the Los Angeles Ebell club for the year 1921-22.

Glendale and Los Angeles friends of Mrs. Toll will be interested in the announcement that she is to leave April 20 for the East, where she is scheduled to speak at the National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teachers' convention in Louisville, and at the mid-biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's clubs in Atlanta, Ga., beginning May 2.

Listen to Reports

Another telegraphic message was received this morning by The Glendale Evening News office from Mrs. Daniel Campbell, president, and Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, first vice-president of the Tuesday Afternoon club, who are in attendance at the twenty-second convention of the Los Angeles District Federation of Women's clubs at San Luis Obispo.

This morning's message reads, "Convention opened this morning at 9 o'clock with a conference led by Mrs. Burdette for the delegates. Then the presidents or representatives gave their reports, which were most interesting. Co-federation has been strongly urged as the only thing which will bring real results; all problems are human, not problems for men only or problems for women only. Election of Mrs. Toll big feature. Interesting part of day, conference led by Mrs. Burdette on club relationship, program building and club ethics."

Mrs. J. H. Lorbeer was elected to the vice-presidency, and action was taken against political lobbying with the federation by private interests.

Sensational Features

The two sensational features of the session have been the sentiment against the electioneering that has gone on because of the contest for the vice-presidency and the resolution presented by the Friday Morning club against

March Leads All Previous Months In The Amount Of Display And Classified Advertising Published

WITH a total of 24,939 inches of display and 9,995 inches of classified advertising in The Glendale Evening News for the month of March—all previous records are broken. The business-getting power of The Evening News in display and classified advertising is the talk of the town—nothing like it.

In the history of newspaperdom in Glendale The Evening News has always led in volume of monthly business, and March, indeed, is no exception to the rule.

BETTER CAR SERVICE TO NORTHERN SECTION

Foothill Association Hears From Pacific Electric Co. About Improvement

THE Pacific Electric Railway Company has acceded to the request of the Glendale Foothill Improvement Association for better service in the northwest district of the city, was the purport of a communication from the company, read at last night's meeting of the association, held in the Grand View school, President Alexander Mitchell presiding.

From now on an extra car will be attached to the 8 o'clock morning train out of Burbank, is the assurance of the company.

The communication also took up the matter of the dangerous grade crossing near the school, promising that in the future trains would proceed at reduced speed past this crossing, but suggesting that this was only a partial remedy and advising the association to take up with the State Railroad Commission the matter of securing a protected crossing at that point.

To Demand Action

Mrs. M. B. Buckman, secretary of the Glendale Foothill Improvement Association, was consequently instructed to communicate with the commission on this subject, submitting for their examination maps and plats showing the relation of this crossing to the Grand View school and its constant menace to the children.

A resolution was passed of condolence for Mrs. James Conner, who was buried at the Grand View cemetery on Monday of ths week, having died the previous Friday at her home, 1027 Glenwood road.

Mrs. Conner had been an active member of the Glendale Foothill Improvement association, and a pioneer resident of the city.

Case Against Foster Now in Jury's Hands

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., April 4.—The case of William Z. Foster, noted radical on trial on a charge of violating the Michigan criminal syndicalism law, went to the jury at 9:45 a. m. today.

Foster did not appear at all uneasy over the outcome when the case went to the jury. Mrs. Foster also seemed much at ease, although her husband faced a possible imprisonment for ten years and a fine of $5000 under the provisions of the statute.

After a conference in the judge's chambers between attorneys for the defense and state, the trial of C. E. Ruthenberg was set for April 16.

Society Woman Weds After Reno Divorce

RENO, April 4.—Mrs. Ethel Painter Hood, prominent society woman of Baltimore, who was recently divorced here from John Mifflin Hood, Jr., Baltimore capitalist, and James Hyland Kuhns, a Baltimore broker, were on their way to San Francisco today for a three week's honeymoon tour of California by automobile following their marriage here last night.

Mrs. Hood was awarded a divorce from her former husband after she had charged extreme cruelty on his part, testifying that he beat her on many occasions, insulted her publicly and abused the children.

Find Bodies of Two Jap Boys Near Crater

HONOLULU, April 4.—The bodies of two Japanese boys, Tagaera, 18, and Arai, 21, members of a hiking party lost on the slopes of Haleakala volcano three days ago, were found by a searching party half a mile below the summit of the crater. They apparently had lost their way in a terrific rain storm and died from exposure. The search continued today for the three boys still missing.

Panic Follows Crash On N. Y. Elevated

NEW YORK, April 4.—Twenty-four persons were hurt, four so badly they had to be taken to hospitals, in a crash upon an elevated line today.

Fifty passengers on the train were thrown from their seats when the train crashed into heavy steel bumpers at the end of the line. Panic followed and many were knocked down and trampled.

LOCAL SHRINE WILL GET ITS OWN CLUB ROOMS, IS DECISION

House Committee to Make Known Location at Big Meeting Tonight

Permanent club rooms in the heart of Glendale have been secured by the house committee of the Shrine Club, and members are awaiting with interest the announcement of the location of the new club home at the meeting tonight in the Pearl Keller hall.

D. Ripley Jackson will be in charge of the meeting, which will include routine business.

The club has long hoped for its own club rooms and the recent musical comedy, "Smile Again," was given to raise funds for that purpose.

Following the meeting tonight there will be a musical program given by Madame Teodora Wisniewska, coloratura soprano; Miss Iva Hanners, lyric soprano; Elia Faggioli, dramatic tenor; and Harry Nielsen, pianist.

The program has been arranged by H. L. Leavitt of Mecca Temple, New York City, who is directing the coming industrial exposition.

RED BANNER WAVES AT CAPITAL

Arguments Over Repeal of Law Dealing With I. W. W. Are Hot and Heavy

By GIL A. COWAN
Special to The Evening News

SACRAMENTO, April 4.—Chester Rowell's comparison of criminal syndicalism with early Christianity in a public hearing last night looking toward repeal of law dealing with I. W. W. is bound to evoke great storm of protest, according to political observers who last night heard the ex-editor and ex-railroad commissioner exude a line of logic, half baked these many years in Fresno summer's sun, and now being spread broadcast by Rowell.

Assemblyman Hugh Pomeroy of Redondo Beach, former Burbank pastor, called Rowell to account for his analogy which was offered in argument for repeal or amendment of syndicalism law as suggested by Assemblyman William Hornblower.

Rowell scrambled his brains in beautiful effusion about the early Roman empire, but his remarks savored of those heard by the writer way back in 1914 when a silly son of an Illinois pastor was exhorting students of communism and sabotage in a dirty den down on East San Pedro street, Los Angeles.

No Sympathy Shown

It was a far call to the days of the Wheatland hop field riots and San Diego demonstrations by the Wobbies in 1913, which Ray Benjamin referred to in an appeal to keep this state free from the lawless element which took toll of $80,000,000 in property yearly until the syndicalism law was written on the books. Even Paul Sharrenberg of the State Federation of Labor could express no sympathy for radicalism, but he did make a much more reasonable plea that you cannot stop isms by persecution. He told of good work being accomplished by organized labor in converting reds to peaceable means of attaining industrial justice.

Reverting to Rowell, however, his friends claims he is wonderful logical. The writer would accent word "wonderful" when he preaches the gospel "It is a mighty dangerous thing to do unto others that which you do not want them to do unto you." In other words, nobody would be in prison, nobody would hang, and nobody would criticise his own little fantastic ideas of reforming the world.

Committee Meets

Tonight in executive committee of the assembly judiciary committee it will be seen whether Rowell's mellifluous efforts in behalf of Haywood, Foster et al, have been in vain. We think as much.

Today question arises in lobbies if Long Beach is not starting campaign to divide Los Angeles county in first getting superior court for their city. Senator Jo Rominger and Speaker Frank Merriam were hosts at dinner last night to the legislature at which latter the subject was boosted by Long Beach delegates and Governor Richardson inferred there is something doing along line of new county seat. Rominger has a bill in Senate making county division possible. However, Glendale shouldn't worry, so there.

DENIES CHARGES

LOS ANGELES, April 4.—A. Burton Hawley, defendant in a suit for divorce filed by Wanda Hawley, film star, has held a conference with his attorney relative to the charges of cruelty and non-support made against him, it was stated today. Hawley was said to have denied the allegations reported to him as being in his wife's complaint, although he stated he had not yet been served with a summons in the action.

GAS COMPANY WILL SPEND $50,000 IN CITY

Plan to Lay About Eight Miles of New Mains in Glendale Territory

THE Southern California Gas Company is to expend $50,000 on improvement of its system in this district, according to plans announced by R. S. Cheatham, Glendale manager of the San Fernando valley division of the company.

"These plans are part of the 1923 program of improvement of the company's distributing system in this district," states Mr. Cheatham. "A careful study of the rapid growth of the territory served and the increasing demands upon the company's facilities have made it apparent that the coming year's consumption of gas will greatly exceed that consumed in the past.

"This $50,000 will be expended during the summer months, in the laying of additional mains necessary in reinforcing the pressure and in carrying an additional supply of gas to our old and prospective customers.

Miles of New Mains

"Altogether, there are to be eight miles of new mains laid ranging in size from six inches to two inches.

"This building program," states Mr. Cheatham, "further upholds the company's slogan, 'Dependable Service.' The money will be expended entirely for service connections, and it will be necessary to expend a larger sum in order to connect up additional consumers who may desire service."

Mr. Cheatham points out that it is to provide for just such improvements, and to further insure customers that dependable service means what it says, that the company is now offering its six per cent cumulative preferred stock to consumers throughout the territory served.

Sparr Heights School Site Is Purchased

The Grammar School Board of Education met last night in its offices at 109-A South Brand boulevard and definitely decide to purchase a school site in Sparr Heights for $12,600 cash from Barnum & Walters.

After considerable discussion in regard to the selection of architects for the building program, George M. Lindsey was appointed to continue the Acacia and Grand View school while A. F. Priest was appointed to continue the enlargement of the Glendale avenue and Columbus schools. Both are local architects. The selection of architects for the other schools was laid over another week.

The Educational Thrift System was discussed and permission was given to install it in any of the schools beside the Wilson avenue intermediate, Broadway and Pacific schools, which have thrift machines.

The resignation of Mrs. Jessie M. Clay, kindergarten director at Cerritos, who is living in Long Beach, and finds the trip too tiresome, was accepted. Mrs. Lois D. Cate of 406 West Broadway, kindergarten assistant at Columbus school, was transferred to the vacancy.

Police Chief Witness In Mann Death Case

SAN DIEGO, April 4.—Chief of Police Patrick took the witness chair at the opening of court today to testify in the trial of Dr. Louis L. Jacobs, who is charged with the murder of Fritzie Mann, beautiful 20-year-old dancer. Chief Patrick is considered the chief witness for the prosecution.

He directed the investigation of the death mystery during the first two weeks following the finding of the semi-nude body of the popular dancer on the lonely beach below Torrey Pines. Dr. Jacobs voluntarily appeared before Chief Patrick the day following discovery of the tragedy and made a lengthy statement concerning his relationship with the dead girl. It was Chief Patrick who arrested the young physician.

Miss Wilma Minor, Los Angeles nurse, may be recalled to the stand today.

Defers Decision on Race for Presidency

LONDON, April 4.—United States Senator Oscar W. Underwood, of Birmingham, Ala., who is touring the old world, said his name was being considered for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1924, according to a Cairo dispatch printed in the Morning Post today. Underwood was quoted as sayng he would not make up his mind whether or not to be a candidate until he arrived at home and conferred with Democratic leaders.

Personal Mention

Mrs. L. C. Rice of 1400 South Central avenue, spent the week-end in San Diego and El Centro, the guest of her son, Jay Rice and family.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Darby of 1245 Valley View road, have just returned from a seven weeks' trip to Honolulu and report a delightful time.

Mrs. Hattie E. Gaylord of 1218 East Stanley avenue returned Tuesday from Los Angeles, where she had enjoyed the past week-end visiting with friends and former neighbors.

Mrs. Louise Niles and daughter Miss Katherine Niles 227 West Colorado street, spent an enjoyable week-end at the Mission Inn, Riverside and attended the Easter sunrise service at Mt. Rubidoux.

Miss Judith Barcus of Pomona was a visitor last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hershel Everett of North Spencer drive. Miss Barcus and Mrs. Everett were former classmates at Pomona college, Claremont.

Mrs. Nellie Hyer of 111 North Louise street attended a special meeting in Los Angeles yesterday of the Los Angeles county council of the American Legion auxiliary. Mrs. Hyer is first vice-president of the organization.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Ingledue of 501 East Wilson avenue spent several days last week in Long Beach, where they were guests of Mrs. Ingledue's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Whitney, who are sojourning in southern California from their home in Lima, Ohio.

Miss Mary Stone of Kansas City, who is spending the winter in Los Angeles, was the week-end guest of her aunt, Mrs. Mary Shropshire, 1841 South Brand boulevard. The celebration of Miss Stone's birthday anniversary on Saturday by Mrs. Shropshire and her daughter, Miss Lillian Shropshire, was one of the pleasant features of the visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Siple of Woodstock, Canada, left Glendale Tuesday after having spent the past six weeks visiting at the home of Mr. Siple's sister, Mrs. Maggie Morehouse of 1000 East Lomita avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Siple expect to spend several weeks sightseeing in the Canadian Rockies, returning to their home during the latter part of May.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Cooper and daughter, Emma-Laura, of 302 North Central avenue, were guests on Monday night at a wedding and reception in Hollywood for former Nebraskan friends, Miss Constance Chambers, and Edwin Burrows. And on Saturday of last week the Coopers and their daughter returned from a motor trip to San Diego, Coronado beach and Tia Juana, in which latter place they witnessed the races on Thursday.

Roy L. Kent of 130 South Brand boulevard, motored to San Fernando this morning.

Mrs. Clarence Marquard of Corona returned to her home yesterday after having spent the past week visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wills of West Dryden street. Mr. and Mrs. Wills formerly resided in Corona.

James W. Gibson of 1321 North Maryland avenue was a guest Monday night at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Disbrow Hoard of Los Angeles. Mr. Gibson and Dr. Hoard are fellow members of the Phi Sigma Gamma fraternity.

Verne D. Bladgett of Huntington Park, formerly a resident of this city, was a visitor with Glendale friends Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Bladgett is engaged in the insurance business in Los Angeles' rapidly growing southern suburb.

Mrs. C. G. Murray and son, Jackie, of San Diego, who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Nudd of 1639 South San Fernando road for the past few weeks, left for her home on Monday. Mrs. Murray is a sister-in-law of Mrs. Nudd.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Duncan, of 605 South New Hampshire street, Los Angeles, are the guests of their niece, Miss Harriet Myers, at her home, 1203 South Central avenue. Mr. Duncan has not been well and he hopes much from the change to the higher altitude of Glendale.

Mrs. Rose K. Lindsay of East Palmer avenue has returned from Tucson, Ariz., where she has been spending several weeks as the guest of relatives and friends. Mrs Lindsay is formerly from Ohio, but previous to her coming to Glendale a year ago, she had been a resident of Tucson, for fifteen years.

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Gilhuly of 342 El Bonita street, were the guests on Monday night of Dr. and Mrs. F. G. Oldham of 344 West Mira Loma street, at a dinner given at the University club in Los Angeles. Other guests were friends from Los Angeles. Later Dr. and Mrs. Oldham and their guests attended the theatre.

Writer In Meeting With Party Leaders

Mrs. Inez H. Irwin

Mrs. Inez Haynes Irwin, noted novelist and wife of Will Irwin, the writer, has arrived in Washington to confer with the leaders of the Women's Party on the Equal Rights bill that will be introduced soon in the legislatures of forty-one states.

NEW BRIDGE AND VIADUCT SOUGHT

Boulevard Extension Plans Discussed at Meeting of Board of Trade

Matters of vital interest to Glendale were discussed at last night's meeting of the Santa Monica Board of Trade, held at the rooms of the Sherman Chamber of Commerce, President W. I. Castanien in the chair and Messrs. P. J. Hayselden and Harry White as delegates from this city.

The extension of Santa Monica boulevard through Hyperion avenue came in for much consideration, it being resolved, that the combined eforts of all civic bodies along Santa Monica boulevard be used to obtain the early construction of a new bridge and viaduct to replace the present Ivanhoe bridge from Glendale boulevard.

The subject of the new Southern Pacific depot on Brand boulevard was a matter of great interest and it was forcibly shown by the delegates from Glendale, Messrs Hayselden and White, that when completed this new depot will be the most popular point of arrival and departure for the whole of the Wilshire-Santa Monica-Hollywood district, via the new Hyperion boulevard extension to Santa Monica boulevard.

Plans are being laid, it was brought out, that when effected, will place Santa Monica boulevard at the top of the list among the world's greatest highways.

It was also brought out that the advance effect of the projected improvements has been to increase the demand for the business frontage along the boulevard in a very marked degree, large numbers of transfers at advanced prices being reported.

Meet L. A. Council

It is intended to have a committee appear before the City Council at Los Angeles this week, to urge that the new street numbering through Sawtelle be consecutive from the city to the ocean; also that the City Planning Commission be enlisted in the interests of developing the traffic possibilities of the boulevard to its maximum capacity.

Great satisfaction was expressed at the progress made in placing ornamental lights of the latest design on the boulevard, from La Brea to Sanborn Junction. This new section of lights will complete the lighting proposition from Sunset boulevard to the westerly limits of Sherman, about five miles, and will be extended without delay through Beverly and Sawtelle to Santa Monica.

The next meeting is scheduled to be held on April 16, at 7:30 in the Women's Club rooms at Sawtelle.

DEATHS, FUNERALS

EVA LAFRANCHI

Eva Lafranchi, 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Lafranchi of 428 Myrtle street, died this morning, Wednesday, Apirl 4, 1923, after an illness of some duration. She was born in Guadaloupe April 6, 1910. She is survived by two brothers, Henry and Dante, and a sister, Angelina.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon, Thursday, April 5, in the chapel of Kiefer & Eyerick. Rev. W. E. Edmonds, pastor of the Presbyterian church, will officiate. Interment will be in Grand View cemetery.

MAJOR EDWARD O. C. ORD

Major Edward O. C. Ord of Berkeley died this morning, Wednesday, April 4, 1923, at 232 East Ridgeway avenue, Eagle Rock.

Mr. Ord was born in the garrison at San Francisco and most of his male relatives are army officers. His father, Edward O. C. Ord, Sr., was the first brigadier-general to be commissioned by the war department. He established Fort Sam Houston in Texas.

Major Ord is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary F. Ord, two daughters and a son of Berkeley, Miss Helen Ord, Miss Mary Ord and Edward O. C. Ord, Jr. There are two other sons, Major Harry Ord of Portland, Ore., and Col. Garrashee Ord of Fort Sheridan, Ill.

Kiefer & Eyerick expect that a military funeral will be held at the San Francisco Presidio.

CHARLES A. PETERSON

Charles A. Peterson of 622 East Palmer avenue died yesterday, Tuesday, April 3, 1923.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed by Kiefer & Eyerick.

Mr. Peterson was born in Sweden, April 11, 1870, and was almost 53 years of age. He came to California twenty years ago and had lived in Glendale about eleven months. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Axelina Peterson, and two sons, Harold C. Peterson of Glendale and A. J. Peterson of Oakland.

MAY CHANGE PLEA

NEW CITY, N. Y., April 4.—District Attorney Lexow of Suffern was today notified that Evan Burrows Fontaine, petite Oriental dancer, and her mother, Mrs. Florence Ames, both recently indicted for perjury in connection with the girl's $1,000,000 breach of promise suit against Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney intended to withdraw their plea of not guilty. The prosecutor declared he was not prepared to state what action he would now take in view of this development. He added he might appear in court. The maximum term in a perjury case is ten years' imprisonment.

SUES FOR MILLIONS

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Suit for $4,510,000 was filed today in the District of Columbia supreme court by James V. Martin, of Long Island City, New York, former captain in the naval reserve corps against twenty-six companies engaged in the manufacture of airplanes. Martin charged that these companies constituted an "airplane trust" and that they tried to ruin his business.

That Texas girl who married a ball-playing poet probably doesn't know whether she took him for batter or verse.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Indian Meeting

A tribute to the American Indian was paid yesterday by the Literary section of the Tuesday Afternoon club, when the meeting held in the banquet room of the club house was featured by a program on "Our American Indians, Their Legends, Songs and Dances." Mrs. Harry Wilcox arranged the program.

Every member was asked to bring a guest, and a large company enjoyed the program, which opened with the roll call and responses of the names of Indian tribes.

The first entertainment number was an Indian war dance, given by Julia Pelley and Gould Moore, pupils of the Pearl Keller studio, accompanied by Mrs. Gertrude Champlin Erb.

This was followed by a group of Indian songs by Mrs. Straith-Miller, "Where the Papoose Swings," "The Place of Breaking Light" (Cadman), "The Thunder Birds Come From the Cedars" (Cadman), accompanied by Mrs. Erb.

Mrs. E. W. W. Haygood gave a sketch of Indian legends, and Mrs. R. K. Snow gave fables of animals from the Zuni Indians. Traditions of wandering from the Hopi Indians were recited by Mrs. Vernon Rapp, and Mrs. Wilcox gave an account of her visit to the Hopi Indians.

Mrs. Straith-Miller sang as a final number "The Long Room of the Sea" (Cadman).

Mesdames W. H. Verity, R. F. Kitterman, F. L. Hollingsworth and Homer Lockwood were hostesses of the afternoon. Among the guests were several members from the Pasadena Shakespeare club.

The next program of the section will be all-American and will be arranged by Mrs. J. E. Sargent, section curator.

Program Saturday

A musical and dramatic program will be given Saturday, April 7, at 8 o'clock under the auspices of the Parliamentary Law section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club in the club house auditorium. The proceeds of the affair will be applied to the glassware fund for the club.

Mrs. C. A. Brandstater, curator of the section and who is in charge of the affair announces the following program:

"Romance in D Flat" (Sibelius), Hilda Brockway, piano; dramatic reading, (selected), Harold Brewster; group of old songs, Helen Sayre, and Ruth Olshausen; "Bedouin Love Song" (Pinsuti), "Sylvia" (Speaks) "O Golden Sun" (Freebley), Harold Trefry; "Ballatella, from Pagliacci, (Spress) Laura Jane Burris, vocal; "Prelude C Minor No. 11" (Czerwouky) Mildred Brockway; "I Pescatori" (Gabussi) Laura Jane Burris and Harold Trefry, vocal duet; dramatic reading (selected) Harold Brewster; "Italy" (Moszowski) Hilda and Mildred Brockway, piano duet; Mrs. Roberta Thomason Young will assist as accompanist.

The price of admission is twenty-five cents and tickets may be purchased from Botts' Book store and the Spohr drug store.

Easter Breakfast

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Newton were the hosts at a very enjoyable breakfast Easter morning at their home, 1216 South Boynton avenue. They planned to attend the sunrise services on Mt. Forest Lawn, but the rain discouraged that part of the program.

Scotch broom was used to carry out a pretty color scheme of yellow and green, while the Easter motif was carried out in the nests of candy eggs and downy little chickens used as favors at the places. Nor was the fact that it was "April Fool's Day" forgotten, and a number of clever deceptions were practiced by the hostess.

Those enjoying the breakfast were Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Wilson and son Jack, Mr. and Mrs. Vern Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cattannach, all of Highland Park; Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Newton and son Charles, and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Newton and daughter Dorothy, of Glendale.

Eastern Trip

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Sawyer of 952 North Mariposa street, Hollywood, are now en route to Norfolk, Virginia, for a visit at different points of interest in the East. They are accompanied by their 5-year-old daughter Dorothy who is known as "Honeybug."

Mr. Sawyer, who is associated with his brothers, C. C. Sawyer and M. C. Sawyer, in the operation of a feed and fuel store at 512 North San Fernando road, expects to be gone about two months.

Another daughter, Miss Mildred Sawyer is private secretary to Irving H. Oliver, business agent of Glendale Union High school.

Teacher Hostess

The monthly business and social meeting of the Women's Bible class of the Tropico Presbyterian church, of which Mrs. O. W. Esselman is president, will meet Friday afternoon at the home of the teacher, Mrs. Frank Ashton, 423 West Myrtle street. The afternoon will be devoted to sewing for the settlement work among the Mexicans at Monrovia. The assisting hostesses are Mrs. H. B. Goldsborough and Mrs. D. E. Covington.

Guild Activity

Mesdames W. J. Farber and B. O Holbrook are to be hostesses tomorrow noon at the business luncheon served by St. Mark's Guild in the Guild hall. The luncheon will be served at 11:30 o'clock, but the hall will be open at 10 o'clock to workers.

In the afternoon Mrs. A. A. Bassett will direct a Guild meeting, beginning at 2:30 o'clock.

Speaks On Art

To link real art with the home was the purpose of the illustrated lecture given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Mary Miller of New York city to Maids and Young Matrons and other members of the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse. The result of the lecture was the decision of the club women to secure Mrs. Miller for a series of six lectures, from which the Maids and Young Matrons Section is to receive 20 per cent profit, the money to be applied on their pledge toward the clubhouse furnishings.

Those hearing Mrs. Miller yesterday, first met in the palm room, where the speaker talked informally, illustrating her talk with mounted pictures and samples of decorative materials she secured in Europe. Her subject was "Art apreciation as applied to the Home."

From the palm room the company went to the auditorium where Mrs. Miller showed artistic slides of home planning and decoration and also a group of pictures of European cathedrals.

The Maids and Young Matrons Section is to hold a cooked food sale Saturday at the Gregg Hardware store. The sale will begin at 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

School Program

Pupils, teachers and parents of the Broadway school joined last night in an entertainment program featured by the presentation to the school of a cyclorama curtain for the school auditorium stage, a gift from the fathers' organization of the school Parent-Teacher association.

Presentation of the curtain was made by George Killinger, chairman of the program committee, and was received by Mrs. Mary O. Ryan, principal of the school.

The entertainment of the evening was: selection by school orchestra; presentation of curtain; acceptance speech; violin duet with harp accompaniment, Wanda, Glee and Vigil Gates; Colonial dance by Harold and Ethel Barheit; reading, "The Little Newcomer" by Evelyn Peebles; saxophone solo, Adeline Woodbury; reading, "So Was I" by Robert Rhodes.

Whistling solo by Doris Forbes; novelty number, "Taboo" by Community Players, Evelyn West, Dorothy Woods and Almena Bullock; reading, "The Usual Way" by Dorothy Woods; readings, "Smile When Your Husband Comes In" and "When You Get Home Tonight," written and read by Mrs. Nanno Woods; violin number by Lucile Allen, accompanied by Winifred Parker, reading, "It's Hard To Be a Lady" by Adeline Woodbury; piano number by Lucile Harris; selection by mixed quartet from the high school; French doll dance by Mary Alice Barton.

Luncheon Today

A delightful spring luncheon took place this afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Squires at 332 Riverdale drive, when Mrs. Squires and Mrs. Kemper Nomland of 325 West Maple street, assisted by Mrs. Nomland's mother, Mrs. Alice Barrington, entertained members of the Riverdale Luncheon Club.

It was a buffet luncheon served at 1 o'clock in the dining room of the Squires' home, which had been artistically decorated with lavender and white lilacs.

Guests were Mesdames Barton Manbert, A. W. Colby, Merril Russell, W. Stamps, P. O. Lucas, Yose, A. S. Chase, William Farlander, Adams and Scott.

Class Election

The A-8 class of Glendale avenue school held a meeting Tuesday and elected class officers as follows; Howard Rettberg, president; Dorothy Forbes, vice-president; Louise Emerick, secretary; Miss Natalie Mackay of the faculty is treasurer.

The class also assumed the responsibility of cleaning up the grounds before commencement, when the exercises will be held out of doors. The work of clearing the grounds of weeds will be done by the pupils. The Glendale avenue graduating class numbers over eighty members.

Choral Club Meet

The Teachers Choral club held the regular weekly rehearsal at the Wilson avenue school last night with twenty-one present, including Miss Alice Lookabaugh, president; and Miss Elsa Brenneman, director. Following rehearsal, the members enjoyed a pleasant social hour and enjoyed light refreshments.

Club Will Meet

The Keyser home at 1322 East Harvard street is to be the scene Friday afternoon of the meeting of the Rebekah Afternoon club. All Rebekahs are invited to the meeting, during which dresses and aprons will be made for the children in the Odd Fellows' orphan home at Gilroy.

Tells of Betrothal

Word has been received here that Miss Edith Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Baker of North Kenwood street, has announced her engagement to H. A. Sands of San Francisco. Miss Baker is now visiting with her sister, Mrs. Adele Christian, in the Bay City.

All Day Meeting

The Ladies' Aid society of the Casa Verdugo M. E. church will hold an all day meeting Thursday at the church. Luncheon will be served at noon. Mrs. John W. Cotton, president will be in charge.

Meet Tomorrow

Tuesday Afternoon club members of Group I of the Arts and Crafts section are to have a social meeting tomorrow morning at the clubhouse. The meeting is to begin at 10 o'clock and the members are asked to bring sandwiches and their own needlework. Mrs. Fred Deal is curator of the section.

Fathers' Program

A program for the Colorado Street Parent-Teacher association meeting tonight has been arranged by a committee of the fathers, Bert Woodard, Dr. F. N. Arnold and L. C. Leeds.

The program, which will begin at 7:30 o'clock, will include readings by Joe Griffen; vocal selections by Harry Girard; sleight of hand performance by A. R. Tubesing; and a surprise number.

All parents are invited to attend and it is stated that small children will be cared for during the program.

Benefit Party

Mrs. Catherine Gies of 823 North Brand boulevard is to open her home tomorrow afternoon for a benefit card party for the Holy Family Catholic church.

Miss Ann Morgan will be in charge of the bridge tables, and there will also be tables arranged for five-hundred games. A collection of attractive prizes has been donated for the affair.

The affair begins at 2 o'clock, and everyone is invited.

Seek Masked Men in Kidnaping of Woman

LOS ANGELES, April 4.—Five masked men who kidnaped Mrs. Louise Collins from her cafe at Santa Fe Springs shortly after midnight, took her to an orange grove six miles away and turned her loose, after warning her to leave the district within forty-eight hours, were sought today by deputy sheriffs.

Mrs. Collins, rescued by Deputy Sheriffs Cooper and Collins, declared that the men who kidnaped her were friends of a girl named Olive Peters, formerly her partner in the ownership of the Rotary cafe, a well-known eating place in the Santa Fe Springs oil field.

Her nerves shattered by her terrifying experience, Mrs. Collins told the deputies who found her walking back from the orange grove, that she would be able to identify the men despite the fact they kept their faces covered.

FLEE FROM FLAMES

UNIONTOWN, Pa., April 4.—Eleven persons fled from their apartment when fire early today destroyed the Monahan building in the heart of the business district. The estimated loss is $100,000. The blaze swept rapidly through the four-story structure. The occupants climbed down the fire escapes.

URGES RETENTION OF JUDGE LOWE

J. N. McGillis Writes About Attempts to Get Pledges For Ousting Official

Editor The Evening News—During the past few weeks enemies of Judge Lowe, our fearless but conscientious police judge, have been seeking his removal from office, and, I have been informed, are endeavoring to secure pledges from some of the candidates for city council that if elected they will use their office to "oust" him.

Now in view of the fact that Judge Lowe is being made an issue in this campaign by some who fancy they have a grievance against him, I feel that it is the duty of all who approve of an impartial enforcement of our city ordinances to uphold his hands at this time, and to make it known to the various candidates that we want to see all laws enforced, and for that reason desire that he be retained in office.

For many years Judge Lowe has dispensed justice in a manner that has reflected honor and sincerity, and to such an extent that even his "victims" admire him for his courage and fairness. However, I am not claiming for him an entirely faultless record; he is human, and has at times erred in judgment, but this is true in the decisions of any and every judge who has had so many, and so varied, cases on which to pass judgment, but I am sure his record compares favorably with that of the very best jurists in all California.

Terror to Violators

He is a man with strong convictions and courage, and has protected your life and mine by becoming a terror to violators of law, especially to the reckless speed demons, who at times show an utter disregard for human life. He has been inclined to show mercy where mercy was due, and has been humane in dealing with unfortunates who came before him. His record not only justifies his retention in office, but the safety of the general public makes it necessary. But these are not the main reasons that prompt me to write this article: I want to call attention of parents to the magnificent work Judge Lowe has accomplished for hundreds and hundreds of wayward boys, (and some girls too), in assisting them to get back on their feet, and starting them off on the straight road once more. It is evident that in many instances he knows more about the night life of the young boys of Glendale than do their own parents, and it has been his one purpose to, at all times, lend a helping hand. I have heard him in public addresses plead with parents to keep in closer touch with their boys while on the street, and thus protect them from the snares that imperil them. Many are the fathers and mothers of Glendale who owe to Judge Lowe a debt of gratitude, and who should be unwilling to keep silent when he is being attacked for no other reason than that he has compelled respect for the law. The country needs more officers like him.

I wish to say that more than one of my own boys have been before him, and have paid fines, but it was no fault of his that they exceeded the speed limit, and they now have a respect for law that they would not have, had he been lax in its enforcement. It is common knowledge that Judge Lowe cannot be "fixed" by persons of wealth or "influence." He is too fearless and honest for that. Are we going to allow such an officer to be ousted? Let us all in unison say "NO."

Let me state that this letter is written without the knowledge of Judge Lowe, and with the one purpose that no injustice be done to an honest and courageous official, who cannot be intimidated. Thanking you for the space.

J. N. McGILLIS.

Mrs. W. A. Fitzgerald and Senator Shortridge

Senator Shortridge of California is shown with Mrs. William A. Fitzgerald of Los Angeles, president of the Women's Federation of Clubs, of Calinoria, and head of the Anti-Narcotic League, who went to Washington to urge the senator to support the Anti-Narcotic bill in the next session of Congress.

Baraca Class Will Give Minstrel Show

"The Gloom Chasers are en route to Glendale," is the announcement made by the Baraca class of the First Methodist church, which is to give a minstrel performance at the church Friday night. The affair will take place in the social hall at 8 o'clock and, according to announcement, "Is guaranteed to dispel the memory of any pessimistic gloom spreader or joy killer you have met in the last ten years."

NEW SCHOOL FOR ATWATER PUPILS

Additional Quarters Needed To Meet Increased Enrollment

The opening day at the Atwater school last September showed an enrollment of 190 pupils, or 100 more than the estimate for whom provision had been made. Two rooms and an office for the principal had been provided. To meet the emergency the office was turned into a class room, partitions were knocked out, another bungalow was hastily erected and more equipment ordered.

Today the enrollment of pupils is 285, with eight regular teachers and two special teachers. A twelve-room school building is being erected just east of the present bungalows on Atwater avenue. It will be necessary to retain the original bungalows for school purposes.

Atwater avenue presents a very busy scene just now with the erection of the new school house and a number of new residences, in addition to the grading and improvement of the street.

Miss Rosalind Gates, the principal of Atwater school, is looking forward eagerly to the completion of the new building. It is an interesting fact that the 285 pupils consume 120 to 160 half pints of milk daily, which is delivered directly to the school. Ninety-five per cent of the seventh and eighth grades take milk with their lunch.

P.-T. A. Is Active

An active Parent-Teachers' association has been organized with the following officers: Mrs. Mabel Daniels, 3115 Garden street, president; Mrs. Harry Wigley, 3112 Perlita, first vice-president; Miss Rosalind Gates, principal, second vice-president; Mrs. Ralph W. Martin, 3448 Laclede, recording secretary; Mrs. Kortz, 3628 Revere, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Charles MacKenzie, 3185 Atwater, auditor; Mrs. J. Ray, 3429 Atwater, historian; Miss Kathryn Fitzsimmons, 1911 West Forty-third Place, treasurer.

The meetings are held on the second Monday of the month. The program for next Monday, April 9, will be a talk by Miss Capps, head of the interior decoration department of a well-known house furnishing firm, on the subject of "The Child in His Home." Her talk will be confined to the furnishings of the small home. Samples of fabric and colors will be on exhibition.

A May festival is being planned to which the neighboring schools of Glendale and Los Angeles will be invited. The Parent-Teachers' association will hold a bazaar in connection with the festival for the benefit of the Victrola fund.

Business Men Invited On Trade Excursion

Invitations have been received by the Glendale Chamber of Commerce to join the trade excursion that is to visit the towns of the San Joaquin valley from April 9 to 14, under the auspices of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, in order to cultivate closer commercial relations between the business firms of this section and those of the valley.

The short time allowed the local business men will, in the opinion of E. F. Sanders, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, prevent the local firms from sending a full delegation on the excursion, but he has a large number of directories of all the business firms in the San Joaquin valley in his office and these are at the disposal of any Glendale firms that may desire to enter into business relations with the merchants in the San Joaquin territory.

Sends Postcard From Aisne Battle Field

A postal card has been received at The Glendale Evening News office from Dett Thompson, who is now touring abroad. He writes from Chateau-Thierry (Aisne), and the card bears a picture taken in a military cemetery, showing a monument in the foreground against a background of white wooden crosses.

Mr. Thompson says, "They remind us of the past, loyal American blood spilled that liberty may exist. Nature and men combined are fast erasing the other remnants."

Re-Elect McCormick Chairman of Deacons

At the April meeting of the Board of Deacons of the Glendale Presbyterian church held last evening, W. E. McCormick was unanimously re-elected chairman for the coming year. Howard M. Lennox was selected as vice-chairman and S. A. Forrester was re-elected secretary.

Horse Thief Catchers Now Recognize Autos

ROCHESTER, Ind., April 4.—The Fulton county branch of the Indiana Horse Thief Detective Association has at last recognized the advent of the automobile by announcing that one of the objects of the organization in the future will be to protect motor vehicles against theft and to recover stolen machines.

Law Bars Raise in Pay for Old Solons

CHEYENNE, Wyo., April 4.—Experience and "seniority" are not compensated in the seventeenth Wyoming legislature, in session here, and twelve members of the present body who are holdovers from the sixteenth general assembly are receiving only $8 per diem, while thirteen members of the senate and sixty members of the house are drawing $12 per diem.

The anomalous situation is being caused by that section of the state constitution which forbids that the salary of a state officer shall be increased during his term of office—a provision designed to prevent officers authorized to fix salaries from taking advantage of their authority to benefit their pocketbooks.

The increase in salary was voted in the last legislature.

British Design Husky New Airplane Motors

LONDON, April 4.—Air liners, able with ease to carry a hundred passengers safely across the Atlantic to America, will, it is claimed, become more than a possibility with the use of the new 1600 horse power aero engines now being designed for the British air ministry.

The new engines, which are the most powerful ever built, are of the semi-Diesel type and will burn crude gasoline.

Invite Candidates to Address Association

The West Side Improvement association will hold a special meeting on Friday night, April 6, at 8 o'clock, in the Columbus Avenue school, to discuss election issues, announces President R. Streit of the association.

All candidates for City Council are invited to come and get acquainted and present their programs.

'Mysteries of the Sea' Is Subject of Lecture

Prof. Alfred Cookman of Polytechnic High school will give a lecture at the Casa Verdugo church Sunday night, April 8, on the subject "Mysteries of the Sea." This is the second of a series of lectures on Nature Study to be given by Prof. Cookman during this season.

Presbyterians Will Hear Talk on 'Prayer'

G. F. Snyder of 322 North Isabel will give a talk on "Prayer" at the mid-week prayer service of the Glendale Presbyterian church tonight. This is following out a plan of holding a monthly meeting on the subject of "Prayer" and Mr. Snyder opens the discussion this evening. The service will be in charge of the pastor, Rev. W. E. Edmonds. The women will have charge of the "get acquainted half hour" at the close of the service. Rev. Louis Tinning, the assistant pastor, will preside at a meeting of the F to K division of the membership which will meet in the church office for the transaction of important business.

Former Glendalians Will Make Home Here

Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Russell and daughter, Marilynn, who for the past five years have been living at Pelham Wood, New York City, have returned to Glendale and are at present living with Mr. Russell's brother, L. W. Russell of 901 Orange Grove avenue. Both G. O. Russell and L. W. Russell are sons of O. H. Russell of 122 North Central avenue, who is very well known in Glendale.

G. O. Russell says that he was some time getting his bearings on his return to this city, as it was a town when he left it ten years ago.

Mr. Russell plans to locate here and will probably enter into Glendale's business life in the near future, along the lines of realty and brokerage, as this has been his experience in the past.

Within a few weeks the crack of the baseball bat against the cork center pill and the swish of the ball will be heard from the north, south, the east and the west. The major and minor leagues all over the country are on their last session of training camp stunts and the official season opening is near at hand.

What are the prospects? Well, ninety-nine per cent of the managers will tell you their club is going to win. There are very few managers who are honest enough to publicly announce their innermost thoughts and convictions.

What are the prospects of new records being made? Will Babe Ruth set a new home run record? Will Jimmie O'Connell and Willie Kamm, who were sold by San Francisco Coast League team to the majors for unheard of fortunes, make good? And there are a million other questions the fans have on the tip of their tongues. Last year was a good batting year, but yet there are some great records on the books that have to be broken.

Will any of these records be broken this year? Ty Cobb led the American league batting averages for twelve consecutive years from 1907 to 1919.

Honus Wagner from 1897 to 1913, 17 consecutive years, hit .300 or better in the National league.

Willie Keeler, National league made .200 or more hits for eight consecutive years, his best being .243 in 1897.

"Babe" Ruth hit fifty-nine home runs in one season, 1921.

During the 1921 season, Stuffy McInnes playing at first base only made one error in the season, and that a questionable one.

George Gibson, catcher of the Pittsburg Nationals in 1909 caught 140 consecutive games, Pittsburg winning the pennant.

In 1908 Pitcher Ed Walsh of Chicago White Sox worked in sixty-six games and was credited with forty victories.

George Sisler set a major league record for base hits in 1920 by notching .257.

As far back as 1888 base stealing was an art and in that season Harry Stovey stole 156 bases. No modern ball player has ever reached that mark.

In 1884 Charles Radbourne pitched seventy-two games for the Providence club, of which he won sixty. He pitched thirty-seven games in succession.

While with the Baltimore Orioles, Willie Keeler went through a complete season without striking out. He was at bat seven hundred times before he was retired via strikes.

Those are some real honest to goodness records. At seen some of them date back to the archives of ancient history. The day will come when they will probably be broken. They have, however, stood all tests this long and there is every chance they will stand for some time to come. At least they give a good idea what the young baseball player of today has to do if he wants to get in the hall of fame.

The WORLD OVER
By FRANKLIN B. MORSE
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

The annual regatta of the Pacific Association of Amateur Oarsmen will be held this July at Coronado Tent City, California, and the chances are that it will be one of the best series of races ever staged by this organization. There has been a considerable revival of rowing on the Pacific coast in the last year or so and, during the doldrum days, it was kept alive by a few clubs who are deserving of all the credit of not letting it die out.

Glorietta Bay, at Coronado Tent City is one of the most ideal bodies of water in the world for all sorts of aquatic sports from rowing to swimming and, with the natural rivalry that exists between the north and south of the Pacific rim of our continent, the racing is all for blood. The entry of the University of California into club rowing as a means of getting more practice competition undoubtedly will go a long way toward improving the crews in and about San Francisco.

San Diego has been getting pretty much all the honors of late and the San Franciscans are making a concerted effort to retrieve their lost prestige. There is talk of the formation of a couple of other rowing clubs at the Golden Gato and if this proves correct, it will add more pep to the sport. Another thing that is encouraging and propagating oarsmen is the fact that the University of California is lending its shells to the high school lads and the varsity crew men are coaching them. The San Francisco rowing clubs expect to profit directly through this action of the collegians. Of course, the Bears are doing it primarily to produce oarsmen for their own boats in the future.

Dog fanciers who are prone to run kennel shows are following with considerable interest the annual Children's Pets Exhibition held under the auspices of the San Francisco Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Their interest in this event lies in the fact that this exhibition is likely to interest the youngsters in dogs and add to the ranks, in the future, of exhibitors at bench shows. While no four footed animal of any sort, tame or wild, is barred from the show, the majority of the entries are dogs and it is remarkable what a lot the boys and girls know about "man's best friend."

While entertainment is one of the ideas of the exhibit, the serious underlying motive is that of getting the children to have a greater understanding and appreciation of their animal friends and it is expected to do much in inculcating a real fondness for various animals. It is this phase that is of peculiar interest to dog lovers and breeders who are giving the society every encouragement in the undertaking. At the last show recently held, there were nearly 600 youthful exhibitors.

YANKEES, BROWNS SEEK INFIELDERS

Failure to Develop Any New Material Is Worrying Both Managers

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service

NEW YORK, April 4.—With the American league inaugural two weeks in the offing, the Yankees and Browns, the "one-two" clubs of 1922, are making fevered attempts to swing deals that will strengthen their respective infields, now just a bit baggy at the knees. The Yanks are weak in secondary infield defense, and with Everett Scott giving evidence of having turned slightly sour at shortstop, it is said that Elmer Smith, extra outfielder, is going on a long journey in payment for the man the Yanks are seeking.

The Browns must have the first baseman to fill in until Sisler recovers his health, which may be next month or next year. They have made unproductive efforts to lure George Burns away from the Red Sox, but apparently are not willing to pay the price. At that Fohl would not be justified in weakening other positions just for a few months of Burns' society. He cannot hope to take Sisler's place anyhow. No one can.

At first blush, the plight of the Yankees is not so desperate, yet Huggins realizes that if Scott fails to come around or if one of his infielders pulls up lame, dangerous complications will set in. He did not develop a single prospect among his recruits at New Orleans and Mike McNally, who is just a good minor leaguer, is the only extra infielder who can appear in an American league box score without unseemly consequences.

Huggins, however, lays claim to seven outfielders and plans to use at least two of them in the trade he is said to have in mind.

DENY REPORT OF WILLARD INJURY

Arm Hurt in Training at Excelsior Springs May Develop Abcess

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 4.—Ray Archer, manager for Jess Willard, denied here that Willard had an abscess on his right arm or was in any danger of having one.

He characterized as untrue reports from Excelsior Springs that Willard is suffering from a severe injury to his right arm which will prevent him from boxing for fifteen days.

Willard was in good shape, Archer declared, and would be in New York in three weeks, to spend three weeks more training there.

Arm Injured, Report

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo., April 4.—Jess Willard will not be able to box for at least fifteen days because of an injury to his right arm, it was announced here. The big fighter, training here for his bout with Floyd Johnson in Madison Square garden, New York City, May 12, injured his arm in training work recently, according to his physician. There is danger of an abscess developing, necessitating his refraining from sparring of all kinds for at least two weeks, the doctor added.

It is believed the injury will not cause Willard to call off the fight with Johnson in New York. In the meantime, Willard, it was announced, will do as much road work and training as his physicians will allow.

"I am certainly going to box Johnson," Willard said. "This injury will be well in two weeks and I will be in good shape when the bout is staged. They needn't worry about me being on hand. Firpo can box me or some one else, but it is certain I will be in that ring."

Thought 5 Cents Daily Enough for One Child

DETROIT, Mich, April 4.—Her husband considered a nickel a day ample maintenance for a child, Mrs. Marie Dembowski testified in her suit for divorce. Stanley, the husband, told Marie she was lucky to get him because he was of noble birth, she told the court. Although he conducted a prosperous hardware store he allowed her only $1 a day to run their home, she declared. When their first baby was born he increased her allowance to $1.05 a day.

"Two years later we had twins and it made him terribly angry," says Mrs. Dembowski. "He told me it was shameful for a nobleman to have twins. He said he could never love me any more and only raised my allowance to $1.15."

28 Teams Remain in Basketball Contest

CHICAGO, April 4.—Twenty-eight teams were primed today for the second day's play in the national inter-scholastic basketball tournament at the University of Chicago for the championship of the United States.

Play began at 9 o'clock, when Northampton, Mass., was defeated 32 to 20 by Springville, Utah, followed with Westport High, of Kansas City, Mo., opposing Simpson high, of Birmingham, Ala.

Four western teams—Walla Walla, Wash.; Windsor, Colo.; Mesa, Ariz., and Osage, Iowa—remained in the play today following victories in the first day of the tournament.

Must Send Check to Pay Penny Income

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., April 4.—The lowest federal income tax here was 1 cent, paid by a local man. The penny was attached to a return showing his taxable income was 27 cents. But the law is no cash, only check or money order shall be received at the local office in payment of tax. The cent is to be returned to the taxpayer, who must draw his check for 1 cent or send a money order. The latter would cost him 3 cents and 2 cents for mailing.

Gleason Says Giants Will Annex Pennant

SHREVEPORT, La., April 4.—Kid Gleason, manager of the White Sox, predicted that the New York Giants would win the National league pennant again this season, as the two teams moved in here today to play an exhibition game of their annual spring series.

"The Giants are one of the greatest teams of all time, if not the greatest," Gleason declared. "They look like a cinch to me. O'Connell is a fine young baseball player and the club is in every way stronger and faster than it was last year."

Heavy Earrings Pull Ears Out of Shape

LONDON, April 4.—Heavy gypsy earrings of the latest fashion, some of which weigh four ounces each, are, it is claimed by beauty doctors, stretching the ears of the women who wear them and thus spoiling the beauty of the wearers.

In a recently issued statement beauty doctors warn women that the disfigurement will perhaps be permanent, for once any feature of the face has been drawn out of shape it is extremely difficult ot restore it to its original form.

Many women, however, are surmounting this objection to the heavy earrings by wearing them suspended from their hats or evening headdresses, where the weight does no damage.

BURGLAR BEANED WITH BLACKJACK

Thief's Victim Bounces Billy Off Robber's Head in Pasadena Home

Harry Edmunson, who moved from Pasadena into an apartment at 226 East Elk avenue about a week ago, was a burglar by trade, and is now in a critical condition at the emergency hospital in the Crown City.

Robert S. Allen of 325 South Euclid avenue, Pasadena, stepped from the dining room to the front hall of his home about 11 o'clock yesterday morning and discovered Edmunson standing inside near the door. At first Mr. Allen thought that the stranger might have gotten into the house by mistake. He was soon relieved of this impression, for, as he advanced toward the intruder, Edmunson pulled out an automatic, pointed it to his head and instructed him to go back into the living room. Edmunson followed him in and rifled his pockets. Then, with the gun still leveled at his victim, Edmunson ordered the owner of the house to go upstairs immediately without any argument.

"I rushed into a bedroom when I had reached the top landing," stated Mr. Allen. "I took a blackjack from a bureau drawer. Looking down into the front hall I saw that the man was still there. I threw the blackjack and it hit him on the head. He ran out of the door and around the house."

Shot By Officer

As soon as she became aware of the commotion, Mrs. Allen, who was in the rear of the house, telephoned the police station. A squad from the Pasadena police department reached the scene as Edmunson was running amuck on South Fair Oaks avenue. After he had fired a nmber of shots at all who attempted to approach him, he was finally shot through the abdomen by Officer George W. Bett. He was rushed to the hospital, where it was thought at first that he had been mortally wounded.

Col. J. D. Fraser, chief of the Glendale police department, and Harry Murphy, chief of the Los Angeles bureau of identification, visited his bedside yesterday afternoon. Charles H. Kelley, chief of the Pasadena police department, questioned the wounded man. He refused to make a confession, apparently being indifefrent to death. His record shows that he served two years at the Minnesota reformatory in St. Cloud under the name of Harry Olds. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Edmunson, live at 1950 T street, Lincoln, Neb.

Radio Fans Want Top Floor Room in Hotels

BOSTON, April 4.—A shortage of rooms on the upper floors of Boston hotels is reported. The cause is laid to the radio bug.

According to hotel managers requests are becoming more frequent for upper suites and rooms. Traveling men are carrying radio sets in their luggage to help pass the time away. Permanent residents of Back Bay hotels are reported to have become afflicted with the radio "bug." The upper floors are considered more desirable for the hanging of antennae.

People who clamor for more privacy make a confession. Nobody yearns to conceal his virtues.

ENGINEER LAUDS AIRPORT PROJECT

Glendale in Front Rank of Progress in America, Says Authority

In a discussion of the problem of land and air, as they apply to the Pacific coast, Wisner Gillette Scott, an associate member of the Society of American Military Engineers, declared that Glendale, by setting aside space for an airplane landing field in its city limits, has taken its place in line with the foremost in the march of progress and has put itself in the way of acquiring a wider-spread recognition for energy and farsightedneess than it could possibly secure by any other means.

Mr. Scott is a member of a number of organization formed to promote the defense of the nation in time of war, and he is also chairman of the World's Board of Aeronautical Commissioners, Inc., for California. Dealing with the air problems of the Pacific coast, Mr. Scott says:

"It is an edict of world progress that communities must ultimately recognize aircraft as a medium of transportation for the swift carriage of mail, special express and passenger. The only hindrance in the way of common acceptance of the new mode of conveyance is the lack of landing places."

Need Landing Room

"Aircraft cannot land in the narrow highway bordered by electric wires or trees, nor cultivated fields, nor where rocks or brushy growth abound, without unavoidable detriment in some way to something.

"Hence the necessity for an area set apart and reserved exclusively for a landing place for air vehicles.

"Improved highways are distinctively visible from an altitude of thousands of feet and are excellent indicators of the route, therefore they would always, with unerring accuracy, lead the air pilot to a desirable landing place for aircraft, alongside of a main highway on an area specially prepared and reserved for the purpose.

"Southern California happens to be so favored by climatic conditions that it is beyond all question the one part of the United States that is best adapted for the development of the science of air navigation to its greatest and most successful extent.

Glendale On Maps

"Glendale, by its action in setting aside a field for a landing place for aircraft, will be listed in books and on charts devoted to air navigation, both national and international, with worldwide circulation. It is assuming an early and prominent place in connection with the new medium of rapid transportation, a medium that is certain to develop into a great industry comparable to that of the motor vehicle in use on land.

"It is only a matter of a comparatively short time when the pioneers of industry will concede the great and many advantages of this region as a center for the design and production of aircraft, and Glendale has done well to take such a prominent position in connection therewith.

"The location of the proposed Glendale airport, alongside the San Fernando boulevard, one of the roads in this state that bears an immense volume of automobile traffic, will be a matter of comment by thousands of travelers every day and will do more to spread the fame of Glendale than any other agency."

Question No. 8 on the ballot to be voted by the electors of Glendale in the election of April 10 covers this point and is the most important of all the eight questions submitted to the voters. It is to be noted that No. 8 asks whether the city of Glendale shall incur a bonded debt of $49,000 for the purpose of acquiring water-bearing land from which to obtain water to be used by the municipal waterworks of the said city of Glendale in supplying water to the city of Glendale and the inhabitants thereof. The surface of the water-bearing land, after its purchase, has been authorized by the voters, will be devoted to the use of aviation.

C. OF C. DIRECTORS IN DISCUSSION OF ADVERTISING PLAN

W. L. Twining, Chairman of Committee, At Meeting of Board, Submits Project; City Clean Up Under Discussion

Reports submitted to the board of directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce at their weekly luncheon in the Citizens Building yesterday by W. L. Twining, chairman of the advertising committee, detailed the plan that is now under consideration for the inclusion of a quantity of Glendale data in the June issue of the Arrowhead, the official publication of the Union Pacific lines, and which would be distributed extensively all over this country and Canada, where the Union Pacific makes connections.

As now planned, the Arrowhead would devote at least 20 pages of the June issue of the magazine to accounts of Glendale's progress and many advantages and the stories would be copiously illustrated with photographs of Glendale. Every westbound passenger on the through trains of the Union Pacific would be given a copy of the magazine, and other copies would be sent out to the hotels and tourist agencies of the country, as well as by mail to the regular list of those who receive the publication.

Cost to Glendale

The cost to Glendale has been placed at $1000, and it was the opinion of Mr. Twining that no definite contract should be made at this time, as the treasury of the Chamber of Commerce has not now a fund from which this sum could be taken for advertising. He urged that the matter be held over until after the Merchants Industrial Exposition shall have been held, when, it is anticipated, a generous amount of money will be available for advertising, when the plan could be taken up and carried through.

As an alternative, it was suggested that the directors of the Chamber of Commerce underwrite $250 of the amount, personally, and that the help of other local organizations be sought to raise the balance of the amount required, and this was agreed to, Mr. Twining agreeing to take the matter up with the Glendale Realty Board at its meeting today, when suggestions for enlisting the aid of other organizations could be made.

Delay in Cleanup

George B. Karr, chairman of the civics committee, stated that he had appeared before the city council relative to the proposed clean-up of the city, but the matter has been taken under advisement by the members of the council until tomorrow night, when a decision will be rendered. The principal question to be decided is that of securing trucks to haul away the accumulated rubbish, and the payment for this service.

Two booths have been secured by the Chamber of Commerce and the Glendale Credit Association at the Merchants Industrial Exposition to be used for the display of the relief map of Glendale that is being made by J. T. Edwards, and Mr. Edwards has agreed to help in the decoration of the two booths and arrange a display of whatever products the two organizations wish to place on exhibition, according to L. H. Wilson, who also reported that the sale of space to merchants has reached a total of over $7000 and that the prospects for the success of the exposition are extremely bright.

In discussing the vote on the purchase of the waterworks site and the airport, Mr. Wilson urged that the directors of the Chamber of Commerce use every effort to bring voters to the polls next Tuesday, April 10, as it is necessary, he declared, to insure the passage of the $49,000 bond issue to secure the land for the waterworks and for the aviation field.

P. J. Hayselden reported on the meeting of the Santa Monica Board of Trade that was held Monday night at Sherman to aid in the development of Hyperion boulevard, and he added that the people of Sherman and vicinity are keenly interested in the proposed new Southern Pacific depot in Glendale as affording a more convenient means of communication than is possible under present conditions, when they are compelled to go into Los Angeles. The committee in charge of this matter, consisting of P. J. Hayselden, Peter L. Ferry and Harry White, was ordered to be increased to seven members, the remaining four to be chosen by the present members.

Meeting On Sewers

Secretary E. F. Sanders and Mayor Spencer Robinson were summoned to Van Nuys yesterday morning for a conference with the president and secretary of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the San Fernando valley on the subject of securing the building of a sewer system, and they returned with the assurance of the unstinted co-operation of the valley organizations in the project that is now receiving so much attention here as being one of the vital issues before the people of Glendale at this time.

Peter L. Ferry reported on the result of the recent conference with the officials of the Pacific Electric with reference to lowering the fares between Glendale and Los Angeles, but he expressed the belief that it would be better to present the matter to the State Railroad Commission to secure an order on the subject, as he stated that the hands of the road's officials are tied by the fact that any favors granted to Glendale would result in an immediate demand from the other cities on the system for a similar reduction.

Opposes Amendment

Mr. Ferry took occasion to go on record as being opposed to Amendment No. 1 to the city charter, which is to be voted on at the election next Tuesday, and which would permit the city authorities to engage in construction work and to pay for such work by special assessments. He based his objection on the assertion that the adoption of the amendment would allow the city to enter into competition with contractors and would tend to create a monopoly that would work a hardship on the men or firms in construction and contracting work. It was pointed out that this matter has been the subject of discussion at former meetings of the board, and Mr. Ferry's motion, that the board place itself on record as being opposed to the amendment, was lost for want of a second, but he stated that he would bring it up again at the meeting to be held on Friday night.

Plans for a membership campaign, to be staged under the direction of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce with assistance from the organization service department of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, will be discussed on April 14, when Charles B. Baer,, manager of this branch of the Los Angeles organization, will be here for a conference with the board. Another communication from the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce dealt with the trade excursion that is to visit the San Joaquin valley, and the letter urged that a strong delegation of Glendale business men join the excursion and cultivate closer relations with the merchants of the territory to be visited.

Meet Friday Night

A resolution was passed, at the request of the Lindsay Chamber of Commerce, asking that the funds in the treasury of the State Fish and Game Commission be kept there and that they be not turned over into the general fund of the state, to be used for other purposes than those for which they were collected, as is proposed in one clause of the budget bill now before the state legislature.

A committee consisting of C. H. Temple, George B. Karr and Herbert Howeth was appointed to act as sponsors for Troop 3, Boy Scouts.

Mr. Carr and W. L. Hewitt resigned as members of the hotel committee and were succeeded by H. M. Butts and L. H. Wilson.

A number of matters were left over and will be taken up at the Friday night meeting of the board.

REDDING, April 4.—It was the night before April's fool day in Hotel Lorens here that Chris Jones and myself were sitting in the lobby, commenting on things in general.

"Murder will out," I told him, and he added, in the course of his remarks, "Conan Doyle once wrote 'Truth is stranger than fiction.'" To give us locale for this story, Chris and Glenn Willaman, managing director of the California Real Estate association, had just organized the Shasta County Realty Board in the shadow of Mt. Lassen.

Tired from a day's travel over the northern part of the state, Chris and I called the elevator. The night clerk, attired in a dress suit, brought the car down from an upper floor. He was lightly swinging a tennis racquet.

"Ahha, a game of tennis on the roof," I commented.

"Killing a few fleas," added Jones.

"Yes, I'm at bat tonight," said the man with the bow tie, etc.

So it was that we rode up to the fourth floor. In the hall a man in a dressing gown greeted the clerk. He made a grab for the tennis racquet.

Threat to Kill

"Give it to me, I'll kill him," he said roarsely.

From within a room there was a muffled sigh of a woman, who evidently knew of the dark deed to be committed. She moaned "murder."

By that time it was growing interesting. Chris and I tagged in the wake of the dressing gown and dress suit.

"Well, if you're coming in kill him yourself," said the dishevelled guest as he turned the racquet back to the clerk.

And then the fun began. Jumping over the bed, swinging the instrument of tennis torture, missing the chandelier, the clerk did his noble duty. The guest flashed a towel about him in maniacal fashion until finally there was a crash. Their victim fell to the floor dead. All the while Chris and I were in the spasms of laughing hysteria.

"Are you going to leave him there all night?" was the query from the guest.

"No, I'll shove him out in the hall," said the clerk, and he proceeded to use the racquet as a shovel.

Once out of the room the mystery was revealed. The play was over, for there lay—The Bat.

War Department Will Probe Cronkhite Death

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Secretary of War Weeks conferred yesterday with W. A. Bethel, the judge advocate-general of the army, on the case of Major Alexander P. Cronkhite, who died at Camp Lewis, Wash., during the war. Since Cronknite's death, it has never been definitely determined whether he was killed or committed suicide.

Following the conference, Weeks stated that all the records in the case were in the hands of the war department.

Kinner Is Appointed City Air Policeman

W. B. Kinner, president of the Kinner Airplane & Motor Company, who has already started the erection of his factory at the municipal airport grounds, has been appointed by the Glendale City Council as an aerial policeman, with full power to regulate air traffic in and around the flying field and to lay down rules for the guidance of aviators and others at the airport.

The usual crop of jests about "fly cops" has sprouted since the appointment, but Mr. Kinner takes them in good part and refuses to permit anyone to get a "rise" out of him, although he admits that, when it comes to rising, he is in a class by himself, as his machine, the Kinner Airster, has made one altitude record and he hopes to establish another and higher one in the near future with the machine that will be constructed at the airport and on which he is now working. It was the Kinner Airster that bore Mayor Spencer Robinson on his soul-shaking flight last week and that turned the city's executive into an enthusiastic flying fan.

So confident is Mr. Kinner that the municipal airport will be established with the full approval of the voters of Glendale in the election next Tuesday that he has proceeded with the erection of his factory and is now engaged in building the machine on which his organization is concentrating.

French Woman May Head Suffrage Body

LONDON, April 4.—The question of choosing a successor to Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt as president of the Woman Suffrage Alliance is beginning to agitate British suffrage circles. Mrs. Margery Corbett Ashby, who is being boomed for the office, recently said that international politics would affect the election, and that the future of the alliance itself might depend upon the wisdom of the delegates to the Rome congress in May.

"Ordinarily Mme. Marguerite Schlumberger, president of the French branch, would be chosen," Mrs. Ashby said. "The issue of Anglo-Saxon domination is likely to be raised if an English woman is elected after an American had held the post twenty years. Furthermore, it would be more strategic from a political point of view to select a president from a country like France, which has not yet conferred the franchise upon women. But the choice of a French woman, after the Ruhr invasion probably would drive the Germans out of the association."

Besides Mrs. Ashby and Mme. Schlumberger, Miss Crystal MacMillan of Scotland is the only other woman London mentions as a presidential possibility. American women are considered out of the race because it is believed advisable to change the nationality of the executive.

Maniac Attacks Two More School Girls

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa, April 4.—The "ape man," crawling on all fours, who waylaid seventeen girls since Saturday, attacked two more last night while a posse was looking for him, according to reports made by their parents to the sheriff's office late yesterday. As in previous instances, the supposed lunatic clawed and snatched at their ankles and fled when they screamed.

The parents of the two girls, both high school students, refused to divulge any details of their daughters' experiences, other than that the man had waylaid them, sprung from his hiding place and, muttering and snorting, scratched at their silken hose.

Penal Code Amendment Loses in Legislature

SACRAMENTO, April 4.—The assembly by a vote of 49 to 15, defeated a bill by Assemblymen Emme and Graves amending the penal code so as to permit judges in criminal cases to charge juries as to the facts. At present judges in the state courts are limited to a discussion of the issues of law in charging juries.

The bill was one of the series introduced at the instance of the Los Angeles crime commission with a view to facilitating the conviction of criminals and to meet the recent increase of crime in the state.

Slug 8

TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY Ad Schuster

Only the older men in the shop remember McAdam. When they speak of him they raise their eyebrows unconsciously putting the old question. There was something queer about him for all the foreman's explanation.

"You know I wouldn't be surprised," —it was Curry who spoke one noon hour when we leaned against the building in the sun, waiting for the time to go back to the forms and the linotypes— "I wouldn't be surprised if sometimes, at night, McAdam comes back, his spirit, I mean, and runs his fingers over the keyboard on Number Eight. He loved that machine more than he did any human being. The only time I ever saw him angry or excited was once when they tried to shift him to another machine."

Followed a significant silence, for the story was known to us all. "Yes, it was queer, wasn't it?" Curry asked, and he meant what was in our minds.

Upstairs they knew McAdam as Slug 8, for that was the identifying line which was set at the head of all the galleys of type he set. Slug 8 was unusually accurate. He was gray of hair and face and as silent a man as the shop had ever seen. The boys said he moved his lips while he worked, and seemed to be holding a conversation with himself or imaginary companions.

It was when Dwiggins, the foreman, tried to shift him to a head-setting machine that McAdam grew angry and protested.

"I've worked this Number 8 for years, since she was moved in. Why, I christened her, and I'll work her until I quit. What's more, I'll leave the shop before I take another machine." The foreman gave in. The care the old man had given the intricate linotype deserved the reward.

Then McAdam died, and in the days which followed the composing room was all but disrupted. First it was Bailey, who had been moved into the job the old operator had held. Due to McAdam's attention to it, Number 8 was a coveted machine. But Bailey quit it the first day.

"Mr. Dwiggins," Bailey tried to conceal his agitation, "I am off that Number 8! Don't have to ask me why, but I won't operate it." The man was pale and earnest. Dwiggins made another switch.

Stevens took the prize machine with a joyful grin, but within a week he retired.

"It's just because I want another," he confessed. "No special reason, but I won't operate that one."

"You're hiding out something on me," Dwiggins growled. "I can tell."

At the end of a month there was not a man in the shop who would operate Number 8. Dwiggins hired a tramp printer, who worked for a time and then left without stopping to pull his ticket. Then Dwiggins went after the mystery in earnest. Piece by piece he got the story, a tale which still is breathed around the place and keeps the old ones away from Number 8.

At night in the shop the power is left on and there is a click of belts over smooth pulleys. The machines are in readiness so that the pressure of a key will release a matrice, one of those brass key-like objects which slide down the fan of the linotype and from which the letters are cast. A line of matrices goes to the mold together and, until the line is complete, they hang in position in front of the operator. At night when the last man quit, Number 8 was clear. Bailey, who had taken McAdam's place, was sure of that. In the morning there were four matrices hanging in front of him.

Thinking perhaps someone had brushed by and touched the keys, the operator paid little attention. Casually he read the letters on the sides of the matrices. They were "S M C A."

Bailey thought of McAdam and his queer way of whispering to unseen companions. It would be like him to resent anyone using the machine. The operator sought out Curry.

"That 8," Bailey said impressively, 'stands for the machine, of course, and M C A is for McAdams. I'll be blamed if I touch his machine again."

After that both men took notice no mats were down when the machine was left. More than once in the morning there were from three to six in the line. Different ones, too, but they could figure it out. The older men said nothing at first, but as each operator made his discovery one more was added to the sharers of the secret. When Q U I T showed, there was not a man who would touch Number 8.

And how did Dwiggins figure it out? He stayed all night in the shop and kept his eye on the machine, his fingers gripping a revolver as if it would be of avail against spirits. In the early morning, "Tom," the composing room cat, jumped from a cabinet and, naturally, broke the leap by alighting on the keyboard of Number 8. Then he jumped to the floor while several matrices dropped..rh 1 several matrices clicked down. That is Dwiggin's explanation, which, as they say in the shop, may do for some fellows who did not know McAdams.

SPIRITUALITY VS MATERIALITY

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

My Dear Followers:

When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally, I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest.

Don't forget to enclose a s. a. s. e. if you ask for an article.

C. W.: If you will ring up the County Medical Society of your city they will tell you where the plastic surgery for protruding ears is done. Too bad your parents did not realize when you and your brother were babies that by putting a little tape cap on your head they could have corrected your protruding ears then when the cartileges were soft and moldable.

E. M. X.: It is thought that when the weight is so unevenly distributed on the body as yours seems to be, there is a little trouble with the internal secretory glands. If you could put yourself under the care of a doctor who makes a specialty of internal medicine, he might be able to help you.

I should take special exercises for the hips and the abdomen if I were you. Rolling on the floor or treatments in the rolling machine or the electric vibratory chairs would help. You may have our article on the Atonic Abdominal Wall by sending a s. a. s. e. and repeating your request.

Mrs. M.: You say you are not feeling at all well and have decided that over-weight is the cause You tire easily and want to sleep all of the time. As you are about 25 pounds overweight, I think you have made a good guess. Your symptoms are typical. If you don't experience a relief by reducing, have a thorough physical examination. The pamphlet has been sent.

Mrs. H.: From what you tell me of your baby he is undoubtedly too fat and it is possible that he has a mild form of rickets. Stop feeding him so much and so often. Keep him in the sunlight as much as possible and give him some cod liver oil, beginning ten drops and increasing two drops every other day until he gets two teaspoons full a day. Give one teaspoonful after morning and evening feeding. He should be having the juice of an orange every day, too. Better see your baby specialist anyway.

M. E. D.: You weigh 242 pounds and you eat only two small meals a day and you have been on this diet nearly a year but do not get any thinner. I am constrained to think that you must be getting more calories than you need even in your two meals a day. The fact of the matter is that a person can eat only one meal a day and still get fat if there are more calories in that meal than are needed.

The pamphlet on reducing has been sent you. If you find after following my directions that you do not lose, then it would look as though you were one of those rare cases that needed medication to get the internal glands functioning properly. In that case you would have to put yourself in the hands of a physician who could treat you and watch you at the same time.

Constance: We have an article on superfluous hair which you can have by sending a s. a. s. e.

BEAUTY CHATS

by EDNA KENT FORBES

WRINKLE PLASTERS

The recent discussion of face masks and chin straps reminds me of another little trick which is often effective in combating first wrinkles. I do not advise this for women who have, frankly, passed middle age, nor for a woman who has many lines on her face. But for the little wrinkles that first appear at the corners of the eyes and mouth, and particularly for those two vertical lines that run up the forehead from the eyebrows, wrinkle plasters are invaluable.

Beauty shops will sell you these plasters cut in fancy triangles and bearing fancy prices. These are nothing but court plaster and have no virtue but that of sticking to the skin. It will be much cheaper for you to buy the court plaster yourself and cut it into pieces to fit where you want it; or, if court plaster does not stick to the skin, you might try adhesive tape. Good quality court plaster, however, is almost certain to be satisfactory.

It will not attach itself if you fill the skin with cream, therefore your real beauty treatment must take place afterwards. Merely make certain that the skin is clean at bed time, then smooth out the wrinkle with your fingers and apply the plaster. All night long, while you sleep it will hold the skin smooth and do a great deal toward ironing out these little unwanted creases. They will come off in the morning when you wash your face. Then you can massage the skin thoroughly with flesh building cold cream, and when this is wiped off the face can be treated with ice or any good astringent.

The value of this treatment is that it irons the wrinkle flat for several hours, and the ordinary beauty treatment of nourishing cold cream and astringent is an effective finish.

Melvin R. S.: It is a great mistake to use pomades or other grease on the hair. A dry scalp will be benefited by having a little oil massaged into it, but that does not mean the hair, for that should not be clogged with anything that collects dirt as an oil will do. Already your very fine head of hair is beginning to thin out, while your scalp shows signs of an unhealthy condition. I shall be glad to mail you the formula for a good hair tonic which will cure this scalp trouble, but I should never advise using anything on the hair to make it lie straight other than to train it by brushing it into place.

Mary: The brown ring around

This is sometimes effective

your mouth comes from a very torpid liver, so you will have to correct that before this trouble disappears.

THEATRES

THE GLENDALE

"The Christian," Goldwyn's screen adaptation of the Sir Hall Caine novel of that name, shows for the last times today at the Glendale theatre.

It is a story of large capacity, filmed in a broad-gauge manner, by Maurice Tourneur, that master director. The cast includes Richard Dix, Mae Busch, Phyllis Haver, Joseph Dowling, Gareth Hughes, Milla Davenport, Harry Northrup and Claude Gillingwater.

The story that Tourneur has made of "The Christian" goes straight to the heart. The beauty of the scenes and the strength of the sequences reveal why this director enjoys his unique reputation. The acting is effective and all in all the picture leaves little to be desired as an example of cinema art.

Side Talks

by Ruth Cameron

THE COUNTRY DOCTOR

I bring a tribute today to one of the most courageous, hard-working, indispensable figures in all our family life, the worthy country doctor.

I put in the word worthy lest someone may tell of some individual case in which the profession was not honored. I haven't happened to meet such a one myself.

A True Picture

My country doctor is a man who has earned the love and trust of the community. Even in these days, when doctors are so plentiful, he has a territory of at least a hundred square miles to cover. In the summer he has his flivver, but in the winter it takes three horses to carry him on his long round of calls. When there is much sickness he is out and away about the time many of us are getting up; he comes back for a bite at noon, starts on a ten-mile drive in the other direction as soon after dinner as possible, and probably goes again in the evening, getting back anywhere between 10 o'clock and the next morning.

The country people say that he often lets his horses find the way home at night while he sleeps. He takes care of the three horses himself. He has not had a vacation for seven years. Yet, like the General Practitioner in the Bonnie Briar Bush, "no one ever heard him complain and he never pled illness to any messenger by night or day."

When he enters a sick room he brings courage and hope with him. He has a smile and a manner that make you feel as if you must have been foolish and overnervous, and that swing things back into their normal aspect again.

He still charges his office patients only a dollar and his home visits a dollar or a dollar and a half.

Doubtless there are some country doctors who could not measure up to this man, but I imagine there are many others of whom he is a true type.

I'd like to see a monument erected to the memory of all the country doctors who have so finely served their fellow men by the quality of their daily service. Something a doctor must give to earn his own bread. But how many of them give far, far above and beyond that for love and duty's sake!

I would like to contribute to such a monument. Only it ought not to be a monument in the old sense of a granite shaft or a carved figure. That would not be fitting in such a case. I know the doctors themselves would rather see some kind of a hospital for science or perhaps some form of provision for doctors grown old in the service and not grown rich.

A Book Worth Reading

I quoted above from the General Practitioner in the Bonnie Briar Bush. Strangely enough, I had never read that wonderful book, but when I spoke of my admiration of the country doctor and my wish to pay him a tribute, a dear old lady suggested that I read it.

And there I found the perfect tribute to the country doctor. If you have not read it, or if you have read and forgotten, go and get it. Perhaps you will find your eyes brimming over as mine did, but it will be a cleansing and beautiful and inspiring sadness.

Art Student: "Kindly print a Floating Island recipe for three popple."

Answer: The following recipe will serve three: Separate the whites from yolks of three eggs. Set the whites aside. Now make the custard part as follows: Heat two cups of sweet milk in the top part of your double boiler; when scalding hot (it must not boil) stir into it the three egg yolks which you have previously mixed with one-fourth cup of sugar and a pinch of salt. Stir constantly till the mixture thickens sufficiently to "coat a spoon" (that is, when it is thick on the spoon), then remove it from the fire at once, or it may curdle. Cool it. In the meantime beat the three egg-whites stiff, whipping into them two tablespoons of sugar and a few drops of vanilla. Drop this meringue by spoonfuls on the cold custard, and serve.

Mrs. E.: "A reader of your column recently requested directions for a tea-pot holder. Here are mine: Teapot Holder: One-half hank each of yellow and green four-fold germantown yarn, two bone knitting needles, ten-inch, size two, and one bone crochet hook number three. With green yarn cast on 32 sts. Row 1. Knit seven sts. green, six yellow, six green, six yellow, seven green, and repeat this for six rows. This makes three squares of three ribs each, two yellow and one green. Now transpose, making two green and one yellow. Continue these squares until you have nine squares in length, then bind off the sts. Crochet a chain of three and one single crochet stitch in third stitch from starting point. Do this all around, drawing in the three squares at the ends by omitting the chain. Next crochet a scallop around, make a cord and tassels for each end of squares."

Answer: Thank you, Reader Friend. I knew someone would answer that request—as always! Perhaps somebody else will, too, and if so I shall print them all (unless identical).

Mother: "Please tell me how to make good raisin sandwiches for my child's lunch box."

Answer: Nourishing Raisin Sandwiches: Stew one cup of large, seedless raisins till soft, then add one-fourth cup of sugar to them and continue to stew until well thickened. Remove from the range, add one-half cup chopped English walnut meats and mix well. Spread between thin slices of buttered bread—either brown or white.

Old City Laws Forbid Sunday Work, Drink

LANCASTER, Pa., April. 3.—Laborers in clearing out an old vault in the city hall here accidentally discovered several volumes containing the minutes of Lancaster's burgesses, dating from 1742 down to 1818, when the charter, under which the city now operates, was obtained. They are of great historical value.

According to the borough ordinance, dated 1743, any person drinking in Lancaster on Sunday was fined one shilling six pence. An ordinance dated 1744 included a provision forbidding the galloping of horses through the streets, and also prohibited unnecessary work on Sabbath day, except in the case of butchers.

A clause in the borough ordinance dated 1745 named a penalty of ten shillings for persons allowing flames to issue from the chimneys of their homes when the flues were on fire. The ancient records, which are highly prized by the older citizens, have been placed in charge of the Lancaster historical society officials.

Letter, 35 Years Old, Reaches Destination

PERU, Ind., April 4.—A letter written by his mother in Germany nearly five years before her death thirty years ago has been received here by Bernhard Linder, city treasurer. Oscar Lindner, a brother, who lives in Bourgstadt, Saxony, found the letter among old papers. It had evidently been misplaced by their mother when she had intended to mail it.

CLUB WILL HEAR NOTED COMPOSER

Frieda Peycke to Interpret Various Compositions At Recital

Frieda Peycke, composer and interpreter, is to entertain Glendale Music Club members and friends Friday night in the auditorium of the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse. Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, club president, will be home from the district federation meeting at San Luis Obispo, and the gathering of the Music club is predicted as one of the big events of the year.

About Miss Peycke's work one critic has said, "if some one told you a clever, interesting story in verse or prose, making every bit of its humanness, its fun or its pathos clear to you, you would enjoy it, wouldn't you?"

And if, while listening, you could hear the piano played so that there was a rippling, illustrative musical background for the story, intensifying every mood and thought, wouldn't your enjoyment be increased?

"This is what Frieda Peycke does with her musically illustrated poems. She selects American poems of all moods, weaves a garland of melody around them, and while at the piano, skillfully puts delicate touches to things of point with a vocal lilt and verve peculiarly her own. Her programs are delightful innovations, unique, satisfying and most artistic."

Membership cards of senior, junior and juvenile club members will be honored at the door and tickets are to be sold for adults at $1.00 and children at 75 cents. The tickets are on sale at the Glendale Phonograph shop.

Cutting Up Large Tracts
State Land Settlement
Great Influx Predicted
Confidence In Leaders

By Gil A. Cowan

LAND settlement in California is one of the great problems of the day. It is an all-absorbing question which has interested the writer from the first sight of the undeveloped west and it is good to hear progress reported along a comprehensive, definite line.

At a realty board banquet in Chico last Saturday night George C. Kreutzer, an old friend of mine in Bakersfield, who is the leader in the Durham state land colony under the direction of Dr. Elwood Mead, told the realtors what was being done.

A large parcel of land is subdivided into two acre, twenty acre and forty acre tracts. The farm laborer is given the two acres on which to erect a home and pay for his land on terms of five per cent. Others with a little capital get twenty acres and those who can afford it take the forty acre farms.

In a little more than two years' time sixty-one per cent of those investing in California's land project have paid out—a remarkable result—and of the balance only two or three have had to sell out and quit.

It is the policy of the state land settlement officials now to sit in on conference with private interests which wish to work out their problem of subdivision in a manner similar to successful state settlements.

If it were possible to have a George Kreutzer in every county California would solve its land settlement problem in a hurry. He was the man who went east last year and interviewed the hundreds of home seekers.

And, out of the thousands who wanted to come to California, he found only 101 who had the money or were able to make good. He also found that those who are able to settle this state are greatly interested in our highways, our schools and our population. They do not want to compete with Orientals, they do not want to live among them.

So it looks as though California has another problem to solve before it can make much of its farming lands desirable. It must rid itself of the yellow peril.

Glenn D. Willaman, managing director of the California Real Estate Association, is telling the experience of Alexander, the mystic, in Seattle. The latter had received so many inquiries regarding California during his tour of the United States he decided to keep account.

At the end of a week's engagement in the northwestern metropolis his secretary reported that eleven per cent of inquiries submitted were in effect, as follows:

"When will I be able to go to California?"

Think of it, folks. One out of every nine people are wondering when they will come to California. What a tremendous flood tide of population is sweeping from the north, east and south to the Bear state!

All of which means that Glendale is not over-prepared to meet the demands for homes, but the state is unprepared to meet the demand for farms.

Great acreage must be cut up, and in the Imperial valley it is good to note the work of the county development agent in marketing many forty acre tracts for diversified farming.

It is a fact, the centers of population should devote more energy to building up a back country, for the cities will take care of themselves. According to a recent report of an agricultural economist one family on the farm means five families in the city.

But we all must work together to see that the rural resident gets his share of the good things in life. It takes the selling price of five hides to buy a pair of shoes. Asparagus sells two pounds for a quarter and you pay five cents a tip at the restaurant. A friend of mine the other evening paid 20 cents for twenty fresh green peas.

So you can see we can well afford to change our economic system a bit to aid the grower if we do not want to pay still more because of a lack of supply.

In one paper we read of Mussolini, great Italian fascisti leader, saying "men are tired of liberty."

In another paper we note "democratization of Chamber of Commerce is sought." And it is urged that everybody be given a right to speak.

Those are contradictory thoughts, needing qualification. Mussolini qualified his statement by saying, "democracy is but a means to an end."

And blamed if we don't believe that democratization of a chamber of commerce is but a means to an end.

Instead of this so-called "democratization" there should be a spirit of confidence in the leaders. If that confidence does not exist, a Mussolini is needed, to lead his countrymen out of the wilderness.

Idle talk and theory lead only to the morass of crass opinion.

Action and accomplishment spell success.

Therefore, let each and everyone of us get behind our Chamber of Commerce and do something constructive. Controversy has killed more than one goose which lays the golden eggs.

ANOTHER CHANCE FOR VERSIFIERS

Write Topical Parody on 'Taboo' and Win Prize In Contest

Glendale's song writers and poets will have an excellent opportunity to win some fine prizes in the contest which is being conducted by the Glendale Community Players who will present on April 19 and 20 the musical comedy, "The Fun Revue" for the benefit of the Glendale American Legion building fund.

Several prizes have been offered through the courtesy of many of Glendale's merchants for the two best topical or parody verses written along the lines of "Mister Gallagher and Mr. Shean" which was published in yesterday's News and the following song "Taboo".

Years ago our ancestors invented the word taboo.
Meaning that whatever they prohibited was taboo.
And something that you never,
oh never must do.
They made a list tremendous long,
Of everything considered
wrong,
They labelled it taboo, they labelled it taboo.
They thought they hadn't missed
a one,
But I put on some of my own,—
I labelled them taboo, I labelled them taboo.
REFRAIN
Taboo, taboo, whatever you do is taboo:
Especially if it pleases you,
There's always someone to cry
taboo,—
Taboo, taboo, everything is
taboo,—
Sad it is, but it's true,—taboo,
taboo.

All contestants kindly send or mail in their contributions to the Glendale Evening News office in care of the Community Players Contest.

Famous Artists Play In Student Assembly

A musical treat was provided in two assemblies yesterday afternoon for the students of Glendale Union High School.

Calmon Luboviski, Los Angeles violinist, who was given an ovation recently at the Philharmonic auditorium following a recital, and Miss Florence Middaugh of Los Angeles, a soprano of note, presented a program which is regarded as one of the finest ever given at the local high school. They were accompanied by the Knabe Ampico. This was adjusted by A. H. Thomas of Los Angeles, who is connected with the Fitzgerald Music Company.

Songs by Miss Middaugh included "Little Damozel" by Novello, "My Laddie" by Thayer, "Will o' the Wisp" by Spross and "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice" by Saint-Saens.

Violin numbers included "Romanza Andaluza" by Sarasate, "Liebestreud" by Kreisler, "Ave Maria" by Schubert-Wilhelmy and "Caprice Viennois" by Kreisler.

Students listened attentively during the concert and because of their desire to hear more were reluctant to return to their classes.

Secretary Wallace to Meet Orange Growers

LOS ANGELES, April 4.—Accompanied by a delegation from the Los Angeles chamber of commerce, who will go to San Diego as a welcoming committee, Secretary of Agriculture Henry T. Wallace will arrive in Los Angeles from the southern city Thursday afternoon.

While here Secretary Wallace will make an inspection tour of citrus groves and packing houses under the direction of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, and will hold important conferences with committee members and officials of the agricultural department of the local chamber.

Ten-Day Debauch Is Fatal to Rich Woman

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 4.—Acute alcoholism and not murder, caused the detah of Mrs. Lena Huntington, wife of a prominent resident, whose body was found in a deserted shack here Saturday morning, and three men held in connection with the crime were absolved from blame, in a decision by Coroner Mix. Evidence disclosed that Mrs. Huntington went to the shack voluntarily and spent ten days there alive and indulged in the debauch.

Daily News Letter

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad.

TODAY—Florida is likely to cut a dash in petroleum circles, indicates H. C. Hamilton, Atlanta, Ga., correspondent. Oil wells have been found and a Florida man has found a way to save gasoline.

TOMORROW—Harry R. Flory's news letter tells of the "Sporting Club," one block from the Casino at Monte Carlo, where the REAL gambling goes on these days.

By H. C. HAMILTON
For International News Service

ATLANTA, April 4. — When you think of Florida as a land of flowers you are thinking along the right direction, but it is not improbable that in the near future Florida will give its admirers something else to think about.

A short time ago a man who had been digging persistently in the neighborhood of Tampa startled the natives with the declaration that his drill had found oil, and to prove it he took a group of citizens to his well and pumped several barrels of crude oil for their inspection.

Now, to cap that occurrence, there comes a story from Key West to the effect that a man digging a well found oil—not deep in the ground at all, but easily accessible. The fluid has been tested, it is reported, and found to be a good grade of crude oil.

The theory has been advanced that the vast oil fields near Tampico, Mex., are shifting and that the pool has seeped under the Florida peninsula. The Tampico field is one of the world's greatest.

Preparations are being made for extensive prospecting on Key West Island and in neighboring spots.

And that isn't all they've been doing in Florida lately. Charles Weeks, of Waldo, supplies the latest thrill with a claim that he has perfected and patented a simple appliance, which, when attached to an automobile motor, fixes things so that the gas is used over and over again with such effect that the car will run something like a hundred miles on a single gallon of gasoline.

In the course of his claim Weeks says he drove his six-cylinder car 106 miles on the first test he made with his invention, and on another test didn't do quite so well, getting only 102 miles before he had to buy another gallon.

Weeks declared the Standard Oil Company offered him $2,000,000 for the invention but he spurned the offer. He said a manufacturing company has offered $5,000,000, and he is dickering with this concern.

One end of Florida finding oil and the other end fixing it up so the price of gasoline will go down.

The mosquito is in for a large and merry summer in the Southeast. He has had several large and merry summers in the past, during which he was batted and swatted and shooed from Gulf coast to Atlantic coast, to the Mississippi and back again, with the result that yellow fever is a thing of the past in these parts, and malaria is about to become known as a purely "nawthern" malady.

The reason for renewed interest in the activities of the tiny buzzer and germ spreader is the outbreak of dengue or "breakbone" fever, which laid out southern residents by the thousands last summer and fall. The stinger of the mosquito is responsible for this neighbor of yellow fever, physicians have proven, so measures are under way again to get the pest matched up with something that will wipe up the floor of the swamp with him.

Strong measures will be undertaken in Florida particularly to see that stagnant water is eliminated, weeds kept cut, and all other places where mosquitoes might breed are eradicated.

If you've ever had dengue you know the reason.

ACTION OF VACUUM TUBE

As the electrons have a negative charge, the charge remaining on the metal is positive, therefore few of the electrons go very far, but are attracted back to the metal, so that there is a kind of balance established between the outgoing and the returning electrons. Now, suppose a battery is connected between the electrodes, that is, between the hot filament and the plate. This battery is so connected as to make the plate positive with respect to the filament. The electrons being of negative electricity, would be attracted by the plate and retained, returning no more to the filament. Thus the battery causes a continuous flow of negative electrons from the filament to the plate. In other words, a current of negative electricity is flowing in space between the two electrodes of the tube in one definite direction.

The current ceases when the filament is cold; because no electrons are escaping from the metal. No current will flow if the battery is wrongly connected, since, when the plate is negative in respect to the filament, the negative charge of the plate will repel the electrons back into the filament.

The distinction between direction of current and direction of electron flow must be carefully noted. It happens that for many years the direction from the positive toward the negative terminal has been arbitrarily called the direction of the current. It is now found that these little electrons travel from the negative toward the positive electrode. The direction of the current and the direction of the motion of the electrons are therefore opposite.

FEDERAL FILTER COIL

In order to smooth out the pulsations in the D. C. supply, to keep the D. C. constant when modulating, and to prevent the high frequency from getting into the power transformer or generator, it is essential to employ a choke coil of proper design. The Federal No. 300-W 2-5 Henry Filter Coil has a capacity of 800 mili-amperes, and is highly recommende for use with both transformer and generator plate voltage supply.

Back to the Road Once More
Things May Be a Little Stiff After Long Idleness

The following suggestions refer to replacing in service the car which has been laid up during the "off season". Before letting it down from the jacks or horses on which it has been wintered, it is well to make sure that the rear end and transmission elements have not become "set" so that they do not turn freely. Rotating both rear wheels by hand, in the same direction, for a moment will indicate whether these parts move readily. Very likely, before pumping the tires, it may be advisable to put in new valve plungers. While still off the floor, turning the hand-wheel will show whether or not the steering gear moves easily and will "work in" the oil or grease which has been supplied its joints. All joints in the brake linkage and control rods should be lubricated with a half-and-half oil and kerosene mixture, so as to loosen them if they have become stuck. Attach the hand-crank and see if the engine will turn over, and if it is stuck inject oil-kerosene mixture into each cylinder, let it set and try cranking again. After it turns freely inject a little oil into each cylinder. Quite likely when the cooling system is filled with water, the rubber connections may need tightening or replacing or the pump packing may require setting up. In replacing the battery be sure that it is put in "right end to," that the hold-doyn clamps are tightened and that the terminals are vaselined, securely tightened and that the right cable is connected to each. If the fuel system has been drained the vacuum tank must be partly filled with gasoline through the plugged opening in its top. Don't run the engine if the oil gauge fails to show pressure immediately, but prime the lubricating system with oil supplied through the plugged hole in the pump or relief valve. Be sure there is plenty of oil in the crank-case, transmission and rear axle, and that the universals are lubricated. Don't go on the road until the brakes have been tested.

Driving Gears Hum

P. H. writes: There is a hum which seems to come from the left rear disc wheel of my 1922 —— car, which the agent says is a hollow sound made by the wheel itself. He tried to stop it but only made it worse. I have had an experienced mechanic adjust the ring-gear and pinion and put light grease in the housing, but the hum is still there and is worse when car speed is being slackened. Should I get a new ring gear or what can you suggest?

Answer: We believe that this is a gear noise, transmitted through the shaft and that the disc wheel acts as a sounding board. You should be using steam cylinder oil in the housing instead of light grease. The sound is loudest when the engine is holding back, because the mesh of the backs of the teeth is worse than the mesh of their front faces. Unless these gears are already badly worn, which we doubt, we believe that they can be adjusted for correct mesh, preferably at a service station maintained by the manufacturer of the axle. A method for accurate mesh adjustment, involving blueing the teeth, is described in detail in their manual and gives good results. If you cannot get these gears to run quietly, you will have to change both gear and pinion.

Charging "Dead" Battery From Its Generator

T. A. Jr., writes: I find that the battery of my —— car is absolutely "dead". If I could once get the engine going, couldn't I charge it again all right? How can I rig up to spark the engine, so I can start it with the hand crank?

Answer: If this battery has not been damaged by standing in a discharged condition or otherwise (which we fear), you could charge it, in time, from its generator, but it would be a much more sensible course to take it to a service station and let them put it into first-class condition. They would loan you one of their batteries, with which you could run your car while your battery was away. As your car is not magneto equipped, the only way in which you could start and run your engine, without the storage battery, is to use a five-cell dry battery, connected to the ignition system only, and the bother and expense of so doing would be greater than following the course above suggested. Charging a completely discharged battery, by running the engine, is a long, tedious process, which does not give the best results, even assuming battery condition is O. K.

They Say That

Hundreds of millions of dollars a year, taken from the pockets of the people, pour into the wallets of "oil stock swindlers," fake promoters and other get-rich-quick artists," says a Washington dispatch.

It is the introduction to an announcement that the Department of Justice, after months of keen watching, starts, today, a Nation-wide campaign against all such fakers.

Information from the national capital indicates that prosecutions have been planned and are ready to launch against "blue sky" operators in all parts of the United States. Attention is called to the unrestrained liberty that has been allowed these people during the fat years that have followed the war.

State, county and local efforts have been made to stem the swelling tide of wasted investment money that has flown, unrestricted, into the treasuries of many fraudulent enterprises, but these have been practically futile. The mushroom growth of fraud has submerged many worthwhile attacks upon the swindlers.

But, now, the United States government—probably under the postal laws—has taken up the gauntlet of battle for the good of the people. Sometimes, the mere announcement that the government will act in such cases, serves to cripple these unworthy organizations. If not, this time, prosecution will furnish examples.

Sarah Bernhardt's was not a soft-cushion genius. She worked with tremendous, unremitting energy. An American theatrical producer, who knew the renowned actress for twenty years, says of her:

"No person I have ever known had such amazing energy as Bernhardt. Something seemed to burn within her like a consuming flame, which at the same time did not burn her out. The more she did, the more inspiration she found. Once I recall going over with her the details of an American tour. She stipulated the contract must call for eight performances a week. I asked if that wouldn't prove too fatiguing. 'No, the contrary,' she replied."

Some time after she had lost her leg, Mme. Bernhardt confessed that it troubled her very much. "I am in terrible pain every hour of the day, but only death can stop my acting." These things indicate the fires of enthusiasm and energy which death alone could quench.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE CHOCOLATE PIE

"Uncle Wiggily," said Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy one day, "I have just made a chocolate pie, and I wish you would take it to Grandfather Goosey Gander. He is ill, poor old gentleman duck, and a chocolate pie will make him feel better."

"That is very kind of you Nurse Jane, I'm sure," said Uncle Wiggily. "Grandpa Goosey will appreciate it. But haven't you made just a little mistake?"

"Mistake? In what way?" Nurse Jane wanted to know. "Don't you think Grandpa Goosey will like a chocolate pie?"

"Oh, that part is all right!" chuckled Uncle Wiggily. "But I mean aren't you making a mistake in calling it a pie? Don't you mean chocolate CAKE?"

"Oh, no!" laughed Nurse Jane. "Chocolate pie is the very newest thing out! It's like a chocolate cake, only it's thinner and has frills around the edges. Inside is a lot of chocolate with French ice cream flavor, and it is trimmed with"——

"That's enough!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "It sounds so good that I may eat it myself instead of taking it to Grandpa Goosey. But if you have it ready I'll start. I didn't know he was ill."

"I'll have a chocolate pie for you when you come back," said Nurse Jane, as she gave Uncle Wiggily the one for Grandpa Goosey. It was shaped just like an apple pie, except that it was dark brown on top, instead of being light brown, as is the crust of most pies.

The chocolate pie was in a strong round tin pan, and Nurse Jane wrapped a paper about it to keep the pie from catching cold. Then with it under his paw Uncle Wiggily set out for Grandpa Goosey's duck house.

Grandpa Goosey lived at the foot of a long hill, down which the animal boys used to coast in the winter. But now, as there was not snow on the hill, there was no coasting.

"I must go slowly down the hill," said Uncle Wiggily to himself as he started over the top with a twinkle of his pink nose. "If I get going too fast I can't stop myself, and I'll roll all the way to the bottom!"

So Uncle Wiggily was very careful, and he held the chocolate pie under his paw so it wouldn't slip out and roll off by itself.

The bunny rabbit gentleman was part way down the hill, and he was thinking how glad Grandpa Goosey would be to get Nurse Jane's chocolate pie, when all of a sudden out from some bushes jumped the bad Bob Cat, with tassels on the ends of his ears.

"Hello, Uncle Wiggily!" growled the Bob Cat. "You have something I want and I'm going to take it."

"Oh, do you mean Grandpa Goosey's chocolate pie that Nurse Jane made for him?" asked the bunny gentleman, slowly.

"Ha! Ha! What's that? A chocolate pie? No, I didn't mean that," chuckled the Bob Cat. "That's the first I heard about a chocolate pie, but, since you speak of it, I'll take it. What I meant was your ears I'm going to nibble them. But first I'll take the pie!"

And then Uncle Wiggily thought of a plan to fool the Bob Cat. The bunny gentleman took the pie from under his paw and started the pie rolling down the hill on the edge of the tin pan.

"If you want a chocolate pie you'll have to chase after it!" said Uncle Wiggily. For he thought if the Bob Cat went after the pie he couldn't get any ears.

"Oh, I'll chase that pie and tag it!" laughed the Bob Cat. Down the hill he started to run, but, although he went very fast, the pie rolled faster, like a hoop. Faster and faster rolled the pie on toward Grandpa Goosey's house. And, just before reaching the place where the gentleman duck lived, the pie struck a stone and bounced up in the air. The pie went sailing one way—right into Grandpa Goosey's house, as it happened. And the empty tin went sailing the other way.

But the Bob Cat, knowing no better, chased after the empty tin. On and on the Bob Cat ran down the rest of the hill, after the empty tin. But Uncle Wiggily hurried into Grandpa Goosey's house, where the chocolate pie had rolled.

Faster and faster rolled the pie

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the bunny, "We fooled the Bob Cat after all. He will get only the empty tin!" And oh how angry that Bob Cat was when he saw there was no pie for him after all!

But Uncle Wiggily and Grandpa Goosey had a good time eating the chocolate pie, and it made the duck gentleman all the better. So everything happened for the best, you see.

And if the clothespin doesn't pinch the pillow case when it's trying to get a swing on the line, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the fire alarm.

Devotes 14 Years to Saving Wayward Girls

BOSTON, April 4.—Miss Lillian M. Brown, director of foster homes under the auspices of the Boston Society for the Care of Girls, has resigned after fourteen years of faithful service.

During that period she has influenced for the better the lives of 1627 wayward girls by gaining their confidence and showing them a new path to success in material and moral ways. Her work has brought her thousands of letters from girls who have been cheered by her thoughtfulness.

American exports to Turkey increased from $3,300,000 in 1913 to $42,200,000 in 1920.

MONTROSE

SELLS MONTROSE SERVICE STATION

Homes Worth $250,000 to Be Built Shortly at Sparr Heights

The Montrose Garage & Service station has been sold by George Wadey to F. J. Sweeney, a recent arrival from Detroit, who has taken possession already. Mr. Sweeney will continue to feature Red Crown gasoline and Standard Oil products. This station is located at 912 North Montrose avenue in the heart of Montrose.

A new lunch counter and refreshment stand will be opened at 914 North Montrose avenue within the next two weeks. This will be operated by William McKesson. His partner, R. A. Corbett, will remain at their new "stand" in Sunland. They have bought property in Blanchard canyon and expect to erect a booth there in the near future to supply coffee and sandwiches to summer picnickers.

Over a quarter of a million dollars' worth of homes will soon be under way in Sparr Heights.

Twenty-six complete sets of plans, each representing the dream of a home-owner, have recently been approved by the Board of Supervising Architects, according to an announcement yesterday by H. E. Barnum of Barnum & Walters. He is of the opinion that many of them will be under construction within a short time.

High Class Homes

The cheapest of the new bungalows will be $6,000, while at least three of them will range in price from $12,000 to $18,000. Mr. Barnum believes that the average price will be close to $10,000.

In order that the beauty of Sparr Heights may be preserved, the deed to each lot sold there contains a clause which provides that plans for all contemplated homes there must be submitted to the Board of Supervising Architects for approval.

"There is no desire to be arbitrary about this at all," said Mr. Barnum. "Builders may employ any architect they desire or prepare their own plans if they care to do so. We merely wish to make sure that all residences in this tract, which will continue to be one of the show-places of southern California, will be as attractive as possible."

The Board of Supervising Architects is composed of three architects with national reputations for artistic achievements in the construction of California bungalows. Members are A. F. Leich of Los Angeles, Robert T. Train of Los Angeles and John Stacy-Judd of Hollywood.

EAGLE ROCK

MAKE CHECK ON EAGLE ROCK VOTE FOR ANNEXATION

Result Displays Los Angeles Had City's Number; Better Street Car Service Being Sought By Committee

That Los Angeles had Eagle Rock's number at the recent election, a suspicion entertained for over a week, is now definitely proved—the total of votes cast in favor of annexation being just 1107, which is the telephone number of the Eagle Rock City hall, Garvanza 1107.

"If you don't believe it, call that number and ask me" is the advice of B. B. Martsolf, city clerk, who states that this is the final check, being the result of a canvass of the ballots at Monday night's meeting of the board of trustees of the city, held in the auditorium of the city hall.

The following is the resolution adopted by the board and filed with the clerk of the city of Los Angeles:

"Whereas, the canvass of returns of the votes cast at the special election held on Tuesday, March 27, 1923, in the city of Eagle Rock, having been completed by the Board of Trustees of said city of Eagle Rock;

"Now, therefore, be it resolved and determined by the Board of Trustees as follows:

"That the whole number of votes cast at said election in said city of Eagle Rock, the total number of votes cast therein in favor of consolidation, and the total number of votes cast therein against consolidation, to-wit:

"Shall Eagle Rock be consolidated with the city of Los Angeles and the property therein be, after such consolidation, subject to taxation equally with the property of said city of Los Angeles to pay thereto certain bonded indebtedness of said city of Los Angeles outstanding or authorized for the acquisition, construction or completion of certain municipal improvements, more particularly set forth in said notice of election and on the ballots used at said election, are as follows, to-wit:

"The total number of votes cast in said city of Eagle Rock at said election was 1925.

"The total number of votes cast in said city of Eagle Rock in favor of such consolidation was 1107.

"The total number of votes cast in said city of Eagle Rock against such consolidation was 810.

"That the necessary majority of the votes cast in said city of Eagle Rock, required by the law to be cast, was in favor of such consolidation.

"It is further resolved, that the city clerk of the city of Eagle Rock and ex-officio clerk of the Board of Trustees thereof, be, and he is, hereby directed to file forthwith a certified copy of these minutes with the clerk of the city of Los Angeles, a city of greater population.

" S. B. OSBORNE,
"President Board of Trustees.
"Attest:
"B. B. MARTSOLF,

Better Street Car Service

S. B. Osborne, president of the Board of Trustees of the city of Eagle Rock, was appointed chairman of a committee to confer with officials of the Los Angeles Railway company, in answer to their request that the board appoint a committee for this purpose, to analyze the present street car service afforded the city, with a view to bettering it.

The other members of the committee are Jesse H. Taylor and M. Bergsvik. No date for the conference has yet been set.

This invitation on the part of the railway officials was in response to written request from the board to the railway officials, under date of March 12, urging that some effort be made to secure better street car service for Eagle Rock.

Delegate to Club Convention

Mrs. A. G. Reily of 550 East Colorado boulevard, representing the Women's Twentieth Century club as its official delegate to the twenty-second annual convention of the Los Angeles District Federation of Women's clubs, held this year in San Luis Obispo, reports that the opening session began at 3:30 o'clock Monday afternoon, April 3, in the Women's Civic League clubhouse, where greetings were given by various delegations.

The convention is expected to elect Mrs. Charles H. Toll to the presidency of the district, to succeed Mrs. John C. Urqhart, and the chief topic of interest is reported to be this forthcoming election.

The conference will close on Wednesday night with a large banquet, and Mrs. Reily will start back home the next day.

Other Club Notes

The next meeting of the Women's Twentieth Century club will take place Thursday, April 12, at the clubhouse, corner of Colorado and Kenilworth, and will be a luncheon affair, with a program in the afternoon, Mrs. W. E. Bruce announces.

Luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, when Mrs. Johnson will give a short talk.

The afternoon session will commence at 2:30 o'clock, and the principal speaker will be Madame Leila Simon Castberg, whose topic is announced as "The Bible in Literature."

A musical program will also be given.

Two days prior to this meeting, Tuesday, April 10, the drama section of the Women's Twentieth Century club will meet at the clubhouse, having been postponed from Tuesday, March 27, on account of election day conflicting. The meeting is announced for 2 o'clock.

Personal Mention

Mrs. R. E. Jarvis of 152 North Highland avenue, has sold her home at that address and removed with her family to Shawnee, Okla., to join her husband, who is now preaching there.

Misses Emily, Rebecca and Lida McClean of 217 North Highland avenue, have returned from Catalina island, where they spent their Easter vacation.

H. I. De Vol is having his real estate office at 204 East Colorado boulevard remodeled.

Mr. and Mrs. James Shaw are on their way back to Bloomington, Ill., after spending the winter in Southern California. The last visit they made before starting on the return trip was with Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Miller of 125 Rowland avenue, who report them to be ardent Eagle Rock fans.

F. E. Prindle, 844 Rock Glen avenue, is building a six-room house at 856 Rock Glen avenue.

Mrs. W. E. Hind, 140 South College View avenue, reports that her son, who has been in a serious condition with croup, is on the road to recovery.

Attractive House

B. F. Herson of 217 North Central avenue is remodeling the garage on the lot adjoining his home into a very attractive house that, when finished, will be occupied by his brother, Milton Herson.

Neal Smith has returned to his home in Long Beach, after spending the Easter vacation with Milton Steele, at the latter's home, 119 Rowland avenue.

Mrs. J. A. Allspaugh of North Kenilwood avenue, has completely recovered from her recent attack of influenza.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Miller and daughter, Miss Carol Miller, of 1021 South Woodrow, returned on Friday from Banning, where they visited Mrs. Miller's sister, Mrs. Martin R. Urton.

Mrs. W. B. Allison of 340 East Ridgeway avenue, who has been ill for some time with grippe, is now well again.

Mrs. Hitchings, who has been living for the past three months with Mrs. B. L. Pearce of Central and Park avenues, has returned to her home in the East.

HARDING NEARING END OF HOLIDAY

President Fights Shy of Political Subjects on Vacation Trip

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 4.—Rain today caused President Harding to cancel a scheduled motor trip to Aiken, S. C., and to spend the day on the golf links in Augusta, where he is winding up the longest vacation he has had since entering the White House two years ago.

The president and most of his party were to have witnessed a specially arranged polo match at Aiken this afternoon but rain made the field so muddy that it was impossible for the ponies to get around.

The Aiken jaunt was put off until tomorrow. The president went on the links here with Speaker Gillett, of the house, former Senator Frelinghuysen of New Jersey, Senator Hale of Maine and E. B. McLean of Washington.

With only a few days remaining before he returns to Washington and plunges into the pile of work that has accumulated for him there, Mr. Harding is vacationing at full speed with golf as the most prominent feature of his program.

Decline Invitations

Invitations have poured in here from all parts of the south for the president and Mrs. Harding to visit various residents on their trip, but they have declined without exception. Mr. Harding has declined all engagements of public nature and has even fought shy of individual conferences with those who came south to see him.

Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, a candidate for the presidential nomination at the last Republican convention, has wished to talk with Mr. Harding concerning some of the aspects of the international court proposal laid before congress in its closing days. Thus far, however, Dr. Butler has been unable to confer with the president, although erroneous reports went out of Augusta that such a conference was held. Butler's only engagement with Mr. Harding has been a short round on the golf links.

BURBANK

ADVERTISE CITY, IS BURBANK AIM

Booster Meeting Tonight to Consider Plans for Wide Campaign

The campaign to advertise Burbank to the world will take on added impetus tonight (Wednesday), when the scheduled "booster" mass meeting concentrates at the Edison school building the various groups of workers who have had in hand the preparation and furtherance of this campaign.

The meeting will be at 8 o'clock and numerous forceful speakers are promised, among them Mr. Johnson of the Los Angeles Examiner and Mr. Milne, secretary of the All-Year Club.

Both of these speakers have pledged themselves to bring others and the crowd can count on being entertained and stimulated from the opening chorus to the grand finale. Which indicates that there will be music, of a nature, hint the promoters of he event, to stimulate the most sluggish blood; to say nothing of other wide-awake numbers that should bring the populace of the city to the auditorium en masse.

The campaign for advertising Burbank, it is pointed out, should concern fundamentally every resident within the corporate limits, as it means dollars in their pockets—for every additional individual, every additional industry, every additional resident, brought to Burbank through this campaign of advertising, will enrich the city just so much, benefiting non-taxpayers as well as those who pax taxes.

Vision Is Needed

Hence, it is felt by the promoters of the booster meeting Wednesday night, very little urging should be necessary to get the auditorium packed to the doors. Vision, they claim, is all that is required—the vision to see those dollars that will come rolling in to Burbank, into the pockets of her citizens.

Although a great deal of work has already been done on the campaign for advertising Burbank, there is still considerable need for consulting and planning together, the best of fine judgment being needed to put the campaign over in a way to make it of the greatest benefit to the city. To accomplish these high ends, the promoters urge, requires the co-operation of every person in Burbank, and they feel that there are hundreds who can attend the big mass meeting at the Edison school building Wednesday night, if they will just make it a point to reserve the date.

One of the main objects of this broad-gauge advertising campaign, it is pointed out, is to bring to the attention of eastern manufacturers Burbank's remarkable industrial advantages. Hundreds of these concerns are at present looking for southern California locations and it is felt that if Burbank is put before them in its true light, they cannot fail to seize upon it as the very location for which they have been looking.

Hope for Factories

In the event this advertising drive goes over as its supporters feel it will, a year from now will see Burbank, as they picture it, a thriving center of industrial development, with factories humming and merchants receiving a thousand-fold interest on the sum they may invest in the present campaign.

Mr. and Mrs. Grove Ketchum have moved from their home on Magnolia avenue to 577 Olive avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hart of 321 Sunset Canyon drive are enjoying a visit from Mr. Hart's mother, Mrs. G. P. Hart from near Topeka, Kan.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Anderson of Olive avenue, together with Mr. Anderson's sister, Mrs. Collins, and Mr. Collins, from Santa Barbara, enjoyed a recent motor trip through the southern part of the state and over the border into Mexico.

Advertising Campaign

Plans for advertising Burbank have progressed so far that a tentative budget for this purpose has been made up on the basis of classified business, this classification to be made on the gross volume of business. It is probable that eastern publications of wide circulation will be used to advertise Burbank, although many of those connected with the project favor using southern California publications.

Another scheme for boosting Burbank is by the inauguration of radio concerts, and the Radio Club of Burbank is behind the project, which has grown from a small beginning among the Boy Scouts to a point where it has interested some of the leading business men of the city. It is planned to have a Burbank night on one of the big Los Angeles radio stations, as this will advertise the city and its advantages from coast to coast.

STORM WARNINGS

SAN FRANCISCO, April 4.—Storm warnings were ordered up from San Francisco north to Humboldt bay by the United States weather bureau today following advices of the approach of a storm of considerable energy off the north California coast. The storm brought with it additional recommendations and indications were the rainfall would continue throughout today and tomorrow.

You can't really buy a nomination, but in process of getting it you can spend more money than it is worth.

MORGAN ELECTED SCHOOL TRUSTEE

Retiring President Chosen Member of Board by Tujunga Voters

At the election of Tujunga elementary school trustees held Friday, March 30, Wallace M. Morgan, president of the board, whose term expired this year, was re-elected almost unanimously. Every elementary school district in California elected one trustee at this election to serve a term of three years. This district rarely produces any keen seekers after the office and the present building program seemed to make the candidates unusually shy about filing their notices with the clerk, with the result that the ballots went to the voters blank and it was necessary to write in the voters' choice. It is a tribute to Mr. Morgan's capabilities and popularity that he had little or no opposition, being returned winner, or loser, as he may personally regard the office.

Owing to the building campaign the selection of trustees in this case was of a little more than usual importance. The trustees whose terms have not yet expired are Judson A. Jenkins, who has one more year to serve, and Mrs. B. B. Reynolds, who has two years of her term still to serve.

Trustees Deadlock

The last meeting of electors of the Tujunga school district held on March 30 resulted in a deadlock on the question of which unit of the new grammar school is to be built next. Tujunga recently voted a $38,000 bond issue for this purpose and one unit of the three to be built has been completed. Some favored building class rooms only and others favored building the auditorium and then as many class rooms as the remaining funds will provide. No decision could be reached and the matter was left in the hands of the trustees, who deferred decision until after the election just held. Another meeting was held Saturday night after Mr. Morgan had been re-elected, but no decision could be reached and the matter will be taken up again soon for further threshing out.

Bid For Tourists

The Tujunga Business Men's Association held a meeting Monday evening at 6:30, April 2, in the basement of the Community church to discuss plans for the coming season when the genus tourist will be rampant in these parts. The business men desire to outline a campaign that will make a favorable impression on these strangers, that will soon cease to be strangers and settle there for keeps. The most important subject brought up for discussion was the proper disposal of a banquet that was served early in the evening. This grave problem was settled harmoniously and satisfactorily to all concerned.

Sunland Is Winner

The ball game at Sunland Sunday was more or less of a farce, Sunland winning by a score of 9 to 1, or thereabouts, with the Universals as the mourners. The official scorer got writer's cramp early in the afternoon trying to score all the base knocks, stolen bases, balks and other things too numerous to mention and hardly worth talking about. After the game he did some quick mathematics on the edge of an old envelope and by deducting the field goals from the penalties which should have been inflicted, but were not, he arrived at the conclusion that 9 to 1 was a fair sentence for everyone concerned, including the bugs, who relished the dish very much. Home town bugs always enjoy a game their pets win, no matter how or by what score it is done.

The Sunland boys stole bases that were locked up in thief proof vaults, they pounded the spherical horsehide until a horse in an adjoining field whinnied with pain, and showed no quarter to the foe and sent them away sadder, if not wiser. One fatuous fan noticed the enemy pitcher toiling minus his uniform shirt and loudly inquired did the bat boy steal this too.

This game was a repetition of the slaughter of two weeks ago when Sunland walloped the Pasadena Colored Giants to the discord of 24 to 8. These last two games make one of two conclusions certain, either Sunland is awful good at the national pastime or—some of the others are awful good-for-nothing.

Canadians Settle

Mr. and Mrs. J. Spaulding of Toronto, Canada are the latest arrivals to settle at Tujunga permanently. They have a married daughter, Mrs. A. E. Flowers, living at 643 Olive Street, who came to Tujunga about three years ago with her husband and who wrote such glowing accounts of the country surrounding their new home that Mr. and Mrs. Spaulding decided to come and see for themselves. They were immediately sold on the place and are inspecting all available homesites and will buy the one most suited to their tastes and make this their future home.

Mrs. J. P. Thompson, who resides on Haynes Canyon Road is reported very much improved in health. Mrs. Thompson recently suffered a slight attack of paralysis, which was the cause of much alarm among her family and friends, but she is able to be about her household duties once more, apparently fully recovered from the attack.

Elsie Zachau, of Zachau Lane, who has been ill for the past week is also reported very much improved.

Mrs. C. T. Smith, of 809 South Verdugo Road, Glendale, was a recent visitor at the Graham home in Beulah Court, Tujunga.

Madame Douglas motored up from Los Angeles Easter Sunday and entertained a party of friends at her vacation cottage in Beulah Court.

Mrs. Guy Barry, president of the Tujunga Woman's Club of Tujunga, is attending the annual convention of the southern district of the Federation of Women's Clubs being held at San Luis Obispo on April 2, 3 and 4. Mrs. Barry will give a report on the convention and her trip at the next regular meeting of the club at the Community church April 12.

Dr. H. L. Frost has just completed the removal of his famous log house, which has stood for twenty years on Adams street, to a more commanding situation in Tujunga. The house contains nine rooms and bath and is beautifully furnished. It is built around a flag stone entrance in the shape of a horseshoe, and the stone foundations were removed with the superstructure, entailing an enormous amount of work and expense.

STOCKS, MARKETS

NEW YORK, April 4.—The stock market closed irregular today. Bullish activities which were resumed in various parts of the list early in the afternoon came to a halt in the final hour and part of the gains were wiped out due to profit-taking. The market turned extremely dull on every setback which was considered a favorable symptom from a constructive point of view. The lack of initiative in the late dealings was generally ascribed to the desire of traders to await the outcome of today's meeting of the local reserve bank in regard to re-discount rates.

At the close of the market some net gains were recorded but fractional losses predominated. Studebaker went down more than a point to 122⅛ and Baldwin 1½ to 136¾. Mack Truck lost part of its advance at 90½.

Government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds steady.

Total sales of stocks were 916,500.

Weakness in Wheat

CHICAGO, April 4.—Much weakness developed in the wheat market today following some show of strength earlier in the session. News was bearish despite reports coming from the dry area of the winter wheat belt.

Closing prices for wheat were steady to a fraction lower than the previous close; corn, ½c to ⅝c up, and oats unchanged to ¼c lower.

Provisions were irregular. Lard closed 2½c to 5c lower; short ribs 7½c down.

STRUCK BY CAR

LOS ANGELES, April 4.—Surgeons at the Clara Barton hospital fought today to save the life of Mrs. Kathyrne Madcraft, believed to be an aunt of Harry K. Thaw, notorious principal in the Stanford White Murder case. She was struck by a street car at Sixth and Broadway yesterday evening.

ASKS NEW TRIAL

ATLANTA, Ga., April 4.—Victor E. Innes, convicted of defrauding through the mails and sentenced to serve five years in the federal penitentiary and to pay a fine of $1000, today filed notice of appeal for a new trial. His attorney, Robert E. Church, counselled against the appeal, advising Innes to accept the five-year sentence. Hearing on the motion was set for Saturday.

BEAUTIFUL
BELLEHURST PARK
in the Heart of Glendale

NOW SELLING LIKE WILD-FIRE!

This magnificent old estate—an enchanted garden in the midst of the fastest forward-marching city in America.

Come today—at once—and see with your own eyes these wonderful homesites covered with fine old palms, magnolias, oaks, and hundreds of bearing orange, lemon and olive trees.

We are creating here in Glendale a unique residence park for Southern California—one that will rival and excel in beauty the thousand acres of distinctive home communities we have developed in Piedmont and Oakland in the San Francisco bay region.

Bellehurst Park is dedicated to fine homes. Restrictions are carefully worked out to insure steadily increasing values. All city improvements of the highest type are now being installed at our expense. Pacific Electric trains only 2 blocks away. 4 schools within 5 blocks. Very easy terms to first buyers.

Indorse Purchase of Site for Legion Home

Indorsement of the donation by the city of the site for an American Legion club house was given last night in the Legion hall at 610 East Broadway by the Sons of Veterans and their auxiliary. Both organizations were addressed on the subject by Joe Griffin of 633 Alexander street, who pointed out the debt which the community owes ex-service men. Charles F. Stuart of 638 East Broadway is president of the Sons of Veterans. Mrs. Harry Hall of 319 North Maryland avenue is president of the auxiliary.

USE OF WOOL

Americans require an average of twelve pounds of scoured wool for clothing and other articles each year.

Lentils form the staple diet in India.

Crowds Increase at Tabernacle Revival

Continued and increasing approval of the message being delivered by Evangelist Jerry Jeter is demonstrated by the way the crowds at the East Broadway tabernacle grow, it is stated.

Speaking of the old words, "Home, Sweet Home," the evangelist dwelt on the kind of a home that is a "sweet home," saying a back-biting home of wrangling husband and wife is not "Home, Sweet Home," and that Christianity is the foundation for a real home; that, while disturbances in the home brought on divorce, Christianity rather tied them closer together and made them love one another the more.

Then the evangelist preached with great power, showing how the Gospel has changed whole communities.

Another oil painting is announced for tonight. Mrs. Jeter will talk at 2:30 oclock in the afternoon.

Grant Freight Boost On G. & M. Railway

Local class and commodity freight rates between points located on the line of the Glendale-Montrose Railway have been increased in order to permit that company to obtain the necessary revenue to purchase needed equipment in place of renting equipment on a per diem basis as at present, through an order issued by the Railroad Commission today. The increases will not be reflected in the rates charged the public.

GERMAN DEMAND

BERLIN, April 4.—Germany today sent a note to Paris demanding that the families of the eleven German Krupp workers killed by French soldiers be compensated.

PLAY WEEK WILL START APRIL 21

Community Service Tells Plans for Seven Days Amusements

Glendale children, old and young, are to have ample opportunity to play the week of April 21 to 28, which has been designated as National Play Week, to be celebrated locally under the auspices of the Community Service.

Glendale Community Service officers are making extensive plans for the week, which will come to a climax at the end of the week with the opening om the municipal swimming pool.

V. M. Hollister, Dr. Jessie A. Russell and T. D. Watson are members of the committee formulating the plans.

Tentative plans are for the churches to begin the week Sunday, April 22, with special services or sermons on recreation. The next day, Monday, April 23, will be featured by neighborhood block and district parties throughout the city.

Tuesday, April 24, there will be a children's pet and doll parade on the high school campus, and in the evening a community sing.

Athletic day will be observed Wednesday, April 25; Thursday, April 26, will be girls' day and Friday, April 27, boys' day. The latter day will be arranged by the Rotary club.

On the final day, Saturday, April 28, the municipal swimming pool will be opened.

The Community Service music committee met yesterday afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce and completed plans for a community "sing" next Tuesday night in the high school auditorium. A. L. Baird will preside and Mrs. W. Q. Widdows will lead the singing.

KILLED IN WRECK

WEST PALM BEACH, April 4.—Mrs. Alice Lawson, 45, of New York City, today is dead and Mrs. W. J. Lydon, Boston; Mrs. T. E. Webster, Bay City, Mich., and Miss Jessie Kellow, Scranton, Pa., are suffering from slight cuts and shock following a wreck of Florida East Coast railway passenger train No. 38, about eight miles north of here last night.

LEGION POSTS AND AUXILIARIES AND SCOUT TROOPS

IT is not now necessary to sell the Scout idea. In fact it would be difficult to find a citizen who does not approve of this great national movement for the betterment of citizenship.

The great problem now is to provide sponsors, officials and scoutmasters, and throughout the nation and here in Glendale the Legion is taking an active part in this important service. Hundreds of posts and auxiliaries have sponsored troops and thousands of Legionnaires are acting as officials and scoutmasters.

Glendale post has already provided the money and organized one troop and it is a "comer." The recent four-days' hike to Mt. Gleason, together with the interesting work put on by the leaders, joint meetings of the post and troop, etc., have stimulated interest to a high degree. It is the adopted plan of the post eventually to sponsor an entire battalion of four troops and of the auxiliary one or more troops of girls, as rapidly as plans can be worked out, finances available and proper leaders secured. It is also planned to provide headquarters for these organizations in the Patriotic hall, now the ambition of the Legion to build, which will also house all patriotic societies desiring to use it.

The Legion troop is organized and managed by an executive committee of five, headed by Col. Everington, U. S. A., retired. This committee selects and appoints the scoutmaster (Comrade Eugene Wix) and his four assistants, determines the policies pursued, supervises expenditures and exercises general supervision over the entire troop and its activities. The scoutmaster is the executive officer, directs the policy and procedure of all meetings, determines what entertainments and hikes shall be taken and directly controls the four assistants who act as instructors in signaling, woodcraft, first-aid, Scout ethics, athletics, etc. Next in rank is the senior patrol leader, "top sergeant," who, in turn, supervises the four patrol leaders, each of whom is responsible for eight Scouts.

It is a question as to which derive the greatest benefit and interest, the men or the boys. After a Scout has been in the movement for a few months "service" becomes a part of him. Outsiders are often surprised at the many little courtesies that Scouts perform and think nothing of because, as Scouts, the "daily good turn" is part of their duty. Not only is it a duty but a pleasure, equaled only by their ambitions—to keep clean and sound in body and mind.

WIMSETT SYSTEM BANK IS OPENED

People's Finance & Thrift Co. Launched Successfully in New Offices

Glendale's newest financial institution, The People's Finance & Thrift company, established under the "Wimsett System" of People's Banks, opened yesterday on schedule time. The company is well established in commodious and well located quarters at 233 South Brand boulevard.

This institution, while organized under the auspices of Albert Wimsett and his able corps of assistants who have, for some time past, been organizing similar companies in cities of California and other Pacific coast states, is in every respect a local institution. Its stockholders are local business men and residents. Its directors and officers are well known business men of Glendale. The officers of the company state that the Glendale institution is in no way to be considered as a branch of the organizing company; that direction of the company's affairs is entirely in the hands of local stockholders; and that the organizing company has no claim whatsoever on, or strings attached to, any portion of the company's future earnings.

Makes Statement

In speaking of the company's opening, and in commenting upon its first day's operation, W. E. Lusby, secretary, treasurer and manager, states:

"Our first day's business was a distinct success, and was the best possible evidence we could have to support the conviction which many of us have had for some time that Glendale should have a People's Finance company. The stockholders, directors and officers of the company are most appreciative of the interest shown by the citizens of Glendale in this new venture. We thank our many friends most kindly for their congratulations and floral gifts. To the public generally, we wish to extend a hearty invitation to come in and see us. The management is never too busy to give every applicant for accommodation courteous and careful attention. Within the next few days we shall mail to practically every home in Glendale a folder on "How We Loan Money." In it will be found some very interesting reading.

For those who are unable to come in and see us during the day time, we are keeping our office open on Monday and Thursday evenings from 4:30 to 9:00 o'clock, beginning Thursday, April 5th."

Nation-Wide Move to Fight Drug Traffic

SACRAMENTO, April 4.—Plans for a nation-wide movement to stamp out the contraband drug traffic were announced here today by officers of the American Narcotic Crusade, which filed articles of incorporation with Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan.

The crusade will be carried into every state in the union and branch organizations of the parent order will be organized.

In its statement of purpose the anti-narcotic organizations sets forth that it is formed "to arouse a general interest in the narcotic evil, to secure by legislation or otherwise responsible control of the sale, growth and use of narcotics, to actively combat the illegal traffic in and the improper use of narcotic drugs."

The organization plans to establish hospitals and detention homes for addicts and will provide moving pictures, newspapers magazines devoted to the interests of the crusade.

"Recreational centers" for "dope" addicts who have received the cure will also be formed.

DEATH AND RUIN MARK ERIN'S WAR

Free State and Irregular Troops Execute Their Captured Foes

By DANIEL O'CONNELL
For International News Service

DUBLIN, April 4.—Two young Irishmen, identified as header Breslin and Joseph Kernan, were executed by republican irregulars early today near the home of Governor General Timothy Healy of the Free State. They were placed against a stone wall and their bodies riddled with bullets. The corpses were left lying where they fell.

Nicholas Corcoran, a republican irregular attached to the forces in Ballina, was short to death by Free State troops when he refused to remove obstructions from railway tracks. After being captured Corcoran was told to carry away some stones and timbers that had been placed upon the rails. He refused to do so, and a volley was fired into his body.

A railway signal tower controlling several important railway junctions, was blown up by irregulars during the night. Three snipers were arrested.

In County Leitrim, a train was held up by irregulars. The crew was removed and the train was then sent ahead at full speed with no one in the cab. It crashed into a freight train and both were derailed, rolling down a high embankment.

the speeches of federation members who are paid by outside interests.

The former situation which has brought an edge of bitterness into the district convention, threatened for a while to break out into open argument on the convention floor, as there is a strong sentiment against campaign methods which more than one member declared savored of the type of "ward politics."

Success from Start

There was never any question of electioneering in the case of Mrs. Toll, whose successful candidacy was assured from the start, and announcement of whose election was greeted with a demonstration of whole-hearted approval. The sharp campaign for the vice-presidency resulted in a two to one victory for Mrs. Lorbeer, whose solid, substantial work as chairman of conservation for the district board has proved her executive ability and her qualification for the office.

The district board's resolution concerned itself with support of assembly bills Nos. 716 and 762, which will remove the Whittier school from the ranks of institutions and place it in the department of educaion.

A banquet tonight will close the convention and the Glendale delegates and other southern California club women in attendance will return after the banquet on the special car on the Southern Pacific line.

AGAIN ANNOUNCE LENINE'S 'DEATH'

Confirmation Lacking of London Report of Dictator's End

By DAVID M. CHURCH
For International News Service

LONDON, April 4.—An unconfirmed report that Nicolai Lenine is dead was circulated here today. Members of the Russian trade mission said they knew nothing of the rumor and were unable to account for it.

Earlier in the day a dispatch had been received from Moscow saying Lenine's temperature had risen nearly to 100 and that his pulse was 104. A bulletin issued in Moscow during the morning said:

"Catarrhal symptoms of the lungs are not increasing. The general condition of the patient is satisfactory."

Word from Paris heightened the mystery about the reported illness of Leon Trotzky, people's commissar for war in the Moscow government. Paris reported it had been officially confirmed that Trotzky is sick and that four members of his household had been arrested in this connection.

Veil of Mystery

There is a veil of secrecy hanging over the lives of most of the members of the Moscow government. They seldom appear in public and the people know nothing of their affairs except what appears in one of the Bolsheviki newspapers at Moscow.

Members of the Russian trade delegation said the last dispatch they had received from Moscow said Lenine was better. They discredited the report that Trotzky was sick as well as the rumor that Lenine was dead

DEMOCRATIC WAVE SWEEPS CHICAGO

Mayor and Council Majority Elected in Bitter City Election

CHICAGO, April 4.—"An efficient and decent administration" was promised the people of Chicago today by William E. Dever, elected mayor of Chicago yesterday by a plurality of 103,748.

The mayor-elect's total vote was 387,961. His chief opponent, Arthur C. Leuder, Republican, received 284,213. The Socialist candidate, William A. Cunnea, ran below expectations. He received only 40,841.

Dever's victory was one of the greatest recorded in Chicago municipal elections. It swept the most of the Democratic ticket into office. Of the fifty aldermen who will sit in the council under the new administration, thirty-eight will be Democrats.

Brennan Strategy

George E. Brennan, successor of the late Roger Sullivan as leader of the Democratic faction in Illinois, today had achieved the high point of his local success as a "master politician," through the election of Judge William E. Dever as mayor.

Dever was Brennan's personal candidate. Today Brennan was receiving congratulations from both winners and losers. Both sides admitted it was "a Brennan victory."

It was Brennan's strategy of the last Democratic convention in San Francisco that dictated the nomination of James M. Cox for the presidency.

Eight Under Arrest in Booze Ring Inquiry

LOS ANGELES, April 4.—Charged with conspiracy to violate the Volstead act, eight persons arrested in connection with the investigation of an alleged huge southern California booze ring, which was featured by a raid by Long Beach police on an alleged rum running expedition at the beach city, were brought into federal court today for a preliminary hearing.

The hearing was scheduled to be continued at least two weeks by stipulation of attorneys for the prosecution and the defense.

Seven of those held on the conspiracy charges were arrested in the Long Beach raid, in which liquor valued at $25,000, three automobiles and three automobile trucks and a motor boat were seized.

We Are Printing 7,000 Copies Daily

SINCE last December, when a special offer was made for new subscribers for The Evening News, and also for renewals, The Evening News' subscription list has been growing with marvelous rapidity, and especially has this growth been very marked in the past four weeks. Hundreds of names are being added to the list every day.

So encouraging has been the work of solicitors in Glendale and adjacent territory that it has been decided to extend the special subscription-getting drive to May 1, 1923.

This is the way you may help us: Pay 50 cents for a three months' subscription for yourself, and 50 cents for a three months' subscription for a friend who is not now a subscriber, and each of you will receive The Evening News for three months.

This means if you are not now a subscriber you may become one for a period of three months by paying 50 cents for your own subscription, and prevailing upon a friend who is a non-subscriber to pay a like amount for the same period.

A person who is now a subscriber may have his subscription date extended three months upon payment of 50 cents when such payment is accompanied by 50 cents for a three months' subscription from a non-subscriber.

1—The offer as given above will remain in effect until May 1, 1923.

2—Write the names of subscribers and the address legibly.

3—Names for mailing list will not be accepted at this special offer.

4—Cash must accompany the order in every instance.

Address all communications to Subscription Department, Evening News, 139 South Brand Boulevard, Glendale, Calif. Phone Glendale 132.
